

Resource Guide

Men, you are called by God to be priest, prophet, servant king, provider, and protector. This resource list has been carefully selected to help you on that journey.

Note: Don't try to do everything at once. Choose one podcast, one book, and one spiritual habit to begin growing intentionally.

IEA Note From The Orchard
Men's Leadership Team:

Since God designed man, He is the ultimate authority on what a man is designed to be. As Christian men, the written word of God is the authority in our life; these resources are supplemental. If ever there is a contradiction between the content provided in these resources and the content written in the Bible, the Bible always wins. We encourage you to take the information and apply it thoughtfully to your relationship with God, your marriage, your parenting, your career, and every other aspect of your life.

To the man who is intrigued by the notion of becoming the man God designed them to be but is not yet a born-again Christian, we pray that God calls you to Himself. The first step to becoming the man God created you to be is to bend your knee. Bend your knee to the Man that hung on a Roman cross, gasping for air, beaten within an inch of His life, rejected by His own father, all the while burdened with the weight of your sin. He took your sin on His shoulders, paying what you could never pay- offering a means of reconciliation to the Father. He died your death, so you could live His life. Surrender to Him as Lord and Savior... it changes everything.

2 Corinthians 5:21

Disclaimer:

Use discernment as you utilize the resources above. We used great scrutiny as we undertook the project of compiling this list; however, it contains references to thousands of pages of books, thousands of hours of podcasts, and hundreds of minutes of songs which we could not possibly consume in its entirety. Some content is designed specifically for men and is not appropriate for children.
