

“An Unfortunate traveller”

Once upon a time there was a blackbird named sugar that lived very happily. One day, as he was flying away with his flock, he got lost and alone and in agony, he decided to perche on a tall brunch. He was crying his pain out all night singing in sad melody. He fell asleep while crying. Suddenly, a strong storm hit! He tried to leave in order to find a safer place to protect himself. As he was wondering around, he got struck by a bolt of thunder and got severely injured. Unfortunately, he didn't make it and Sugar sadly died.
