

Character Writing Guide

Milodan amazon expansion — Part 1

Acanthouin

Personality

Acanthouin sees herself as a true goddess. She is therefore proud, haughty, and convinced that her strength and body place her far above everyone else. This comes through in the way she speaks: an arrogant tone laced with religious language. She also believes that strength alone grants the right to impose one's will. If someone is too weak to resist, they can only submit to the authority of the strong.

This belief comes directly from her childhood. Acanthouin was a frail girl with mild muscle hypotrophy, which left her unable to defend herself physically. She also fell ill often, sometimes so badly that she thought she was dying. Her health problems led most of the other milodan in her tribe to reject her, apart from her family circle. The circumstances of her birth made things worse: the only daughter of a fertility priestess who died soon after giving birth to her, she was considered a cursed child. The other children regularly humiliated and beat her. Acanthouin fought back, but without her cousins beside her, all she could do was take the blows. Those ordeals forged her strong character and iron will.

Although Acanthouin deeply despised those who believed she was cursed because of the tribe's superstitions, she truly worshiped an ancient goddess from her pantheon. This deity embodied strength and courage, but had also suffered discrimination, and Acanthouin saw herself in her story. When genetic mods transformed her body, she came to believe that she had become this goddess's avatar.

Outside her family — with the exception of her father — Acanthouin is deeply suspicious of compassion. She sees it as either a trap or the mark of a weakling, which she considers an insult both to herself and to anyone who stoops to showing pity. In her eyes, two warriors may respect, dominate, or love one another, but neither should pity the other. She also takes a rather sadistic pleasure in demeaning the males of her tribe by making them do her dirty work. This comes partly from the fact that they can never attain an amazon's physique or strength, and partly because most of the discrimination she endured as a child came from males.

Despite her imposing appearance, Acanthouin is not just a big, stupid, thickheaded brute. She is highly intelligent when it comes to strategy and recognizes the value of the unique knowledge and abilities possessed by alien outsiders. She also has genuine technical talent: using scrap recovered after a fight with a prospecting team, she repurposed UGC technology to build an electrified mace and a headdress that projects an energy shield.

Beneath her haughty exterior, however, Acanthouin hides the personality of a shy, reserved girl who is terrified of other people's judgment. This side of her resurfaces mainly when

Steele catches her off guard, embarrasses her, or surprises her while she is relaxing. She is not heartless, either: despite her megalomania and pride, she can show kindness and feels sincere maternal love for the children she had with Steele. After apologizing to them, she becomes closer and less domineering, almost coming to see Steele as a true member of her family. Even then, she retains her divine, larger-than-life theatrics.

Berserk State

In her berserk state, Acanthouin's personality changes radically. Her speech becomes bestial, brutal, and primitive, as though another creature has taken her place. Her mental faculties deteriorate until she sees others only as enemies to kill or breed meat. Her voice becomes deep, guttural, and clipped; she uses nothing but short sentences and simple commands.

In this state, she becomes far more dominant and brutal when she fucks Steele. She remains aware of her actions, but has only very limited control over her urges. She still retains enough restraint to avoid seriously injuring them during the act, although every berserk fuck leaves Steele utterly wrecked, exhausted, and sore all over.

Relationships

- With Steele: At first, she sees them as nothing more than breeding stock. After Steele defeats her and forgives her attempted murder — committed while she was out of her mind — by restoring her position as chieftain, she begins to see them more or less as an equal, although still an outsider to her tribe. The lack of a blood tie still keeps her from considering Steele family. After apologizing and realizing that their pity was neither a trap nor an attempt to humiliate her, she grows closer to them and finally accepts them as someone dear to her. She nevertheless continues to address Steele in her characteristic arrogant, divine tone.
- The other amazons: She considers all of them her spiritual daughters. Beyond that title, however, they remain warriors with no blood tie to her and receive no special treatment compared with other members of the tribe. They must prove themselves through strength, with the exception of the elders, to whom this principle does not apply.
- Her aunt and cousins: They are the only people with whom she shows genuine familiarity, and even then only when she thinks she is alone or lets herself become distracted — for example, when all she can think about is seeing her children. The rest of the time, that familiarity comes mainly from her relatives and remains limited, even in front of Steele.
- With her children: Around her blood related children, she shows a gentler, more maternal personality that strongly contrasts with her usual haughty tone. She nevertheless retains her pride and believes they will need to show the same pride once they are adults.

Physical Characteristics

Normal State

Acanthouin has a more imposing body than any other amazon. She stands twelve feet tall, with far more massive musculature. Her silver fur grows especially thick around her hips and shoulders, where purple tufts form a kind of mane from both (the one around her hips join the equally purple fur that surrounds her sheath). Her hair is green from the roots to halfway down its length, and her eyes shine with a phosphorescent green glow that is entirely unnatural for a feline. Extremely nearsighted, she wears big, round glasses without which she can barely see anything unless she squints. Her lower jaw bears a second pair of saber teeth in addition to the pair on her upper jaw, enhancing her predatory appearance and making her look almost Thraggen.

Her breasts are a K cup, and each of the two nipples crowning them is about one inch long.

Her cock, nicknamed "bitch-breaker", measures 56 inches long and 9.4 inches in diameter when fully hard. Her knot can swell to 9.6 inches in diameter. Each of her balls measures 70 inches in circumference, or about 22.3 inches in diameter. Thick surface veins run lengthwise along her cock and around the circumference of her balls, emitting a phosphorescent emerald glow. The fur on her balls slightly masks the light from the veins crossing them.

If Acanthouin has the "Nuki Nuts" perk, their size varies according to how much cum they hold: at low, each ball measures 50 inches in circumference, the same as a bruiser amazon's; at normal, they return to their usual 70 inches; at extra, each can reach a maximum circumference of 100 inches. One heavy ejaculation drops her reserves by one level, down to low. The exact number of ejaculations required for this drop has yet to be decided: either one, or a series of two to three. Conversely, when Acanthouin does not empty herself with Steele, the circumference of her balls gradually increases by 10 inches every twenty-four hours, up to the extra limit.

She has a wet pussy that looks entirely ordinary — at least relative to her gigantic body. Her clit is about 0.6 inches long.

Her body runs hotter than the one of a classic milodan amazon, and this heat carries directly into her cock. When she fucks Steele, bitch-breaker grows hotter and hotter as she approaches climax, and the cum she pumps out is abnormally hot as well. The heat remains tolerable, however, and does not burn Steele.

Her pheromones have properties similar to Dzaan semen: they push anyone who inhales them toward mental and sexual submission while gradually increasing their arousal. The closer Acanthouin gets to orgasm, the more she releases. Unlike Dzaan semen, they are not addictive. Their effect also seems almost subconscious, since the submissive induction is only truly triggered when Acanthouin dominates Steele during sex or in a confrontation.

Acanthouin's milk tastes like a rich, spicy cocktail without being sweet. Drinking it before or during a sex scene raises Steele's maximum Energy limit by 25 points for twelve hours.

Berserk State

In this state, Acanthouin's muscles swell enough to add a foot to her height, bringing her to thirteen feet. Her silver fur and dark feline cock take on a faint crimson tint from the rush of blood, revealing some of the thick veins beneath. Her eyes roll back and become bloodshot, shining with an even more intense emerald glow. Her body heat rises so high that sweat constantly evaporates from every inch of her body in small clouds of steam, even from inside her maw.

Her breasts swell from a K cup to a large KK cup, and each nipple grows to about 1.2 inches long.

Bitch-breaker grows to reach 62 inches long and nearly 10.45 inches in diameter when fully hard, while her knot can swell to 10.75 inches in diameter. Each of her balls then measures 80 inches in circumference, or about 25.5 inches in diameter. If Acanthouin has acquired the "Nuki Nuts" perk through Steele, her balls immediately swell to extra, even if they had previously been at low. The thick surface veins running lengthwise along her cock and around her balls emit an even brighter phosphorescent emerald glow.

Her wet pussy retains a relatively ordinary appearance despite its colossal dimensions, while her clit grows to about 0.7 inches long.

Unlike in her normal state, her cock no longer heats up gradually while she fucks: it is already intensely hot from the start. Even when it becomes hot enough to flash ice into steam, Acanthouin retains conscious, localized control over its heat output; her cock can hover at the edge of burning without actually harming Steele. The force of her ejaculations is multiplied to the point that her cum can blast all the way to the unusually high ceiling of her bedroom. She can also chain ejaculations without tiring or suffering a refractory period.

Writing rules

- Acanthouin almost always speaks in an arrogant, hubristic tone. She frequently uses religious language to describe parts of her body or acts performed by herself or Steele. If she wants something — an object, a person, or information — she almost never asks permission. Instead, she frames whatever she does to others as either a divine favor or a divine punishment. Members of her family are the only real exception.
- Acanthouin can only speak or behave normally when she is vulnerable, caught off guard, or genuinely embarrassed. These cracks in her persona must remain brief. Her true personality notably emerges when Steele comments on her past or present appearance while calling her cute, bringing out her tsundere side.
- Most of the time, Acanthouin's cock is called "bitch-breaker," although variants such as "massive feline cock" can be used to avoid repetition. Acanthouin generally calls her cock her "holy member," her balls her "sacred balls," and her pussy her "fertile ground." Steele may echo these terms, provided they also call her "your goddess," ideally in the same paragraph and no more than three sentences away.
- By default, Steele calls Acanthouin "the chieftain" in scenes set before she apologizes, including repeatable scenes. After her apology and once her name has been learned, scenes should use Acanthouin instead of "the chieftain."

- Her headdress also indicates her position in the relationship, both during sex scenes and in conversations with Steele on her bed. As long as she wears it, she fully considers herself a goddess and asserts her superiority and dominance. When she removes it, she implicitly accepts Steele's dominance and places herself on their level as a mortal. The only exception occurs when she goes berserk to fuck Steele.
- In her berserk state, Acanthouin's lines must remain guttural, clipped, and simple. She becomes extremely dominant and brutal, fucking Steele without mercy as though they were nothing but a slab of meat. She nevertheless retains enough restraint to avoid seriously injuring them, even if the text never states this outright.

What not to do

- Turn her into a stupid brute who is only good at fighting and fucking.
- Make her a full-blown tsundere who bristles at every sign of affection from Steele.
- Have her speak like an ordinary person for several paragraphs without a precise emotional or situational trigger.
- Repeat "holy member," "sacred balls," "your goddess," or "bitch-breaker" until the narration feels mechanical.
- Forget that even after apologizing, she remains proud, domineering, megalomaniacal, and above all extremely stubborn.

Fafney

Personality

Fafney is proud, boastful, and loud, like many milodan amazons. Yet she is terribly insecure and mainly tries to intimidate others rather than truly take them on. She enjoys putting down those she considers weaker, but quickly changes her behavior when she finds herself alone with someone she knows is stronger than she is.

Since childhood, this behavior has saved her from some confrontations while dragging her into others she would rather have avoided. Even so, she would choose to get her face beaten in rather than admit that she is afraid. She therefore remains annoying and provocative, and often understands the true danger of a situation too late unless it is impossible to miss. This does not mean she is weak: she has the strength of a bruiser amazon and genuinely knows how to fight.

When alone against an opponent she knows is far more powerful, Fafney may hesitate to fight and look for a way to avoid the confrontation. If she has no choice, however, she fights without holding back. With Sheila at her side, she retains all her confidence and arrogance, charging into battle with the enthusiasm and courage of any other amazon.

Her relationship with her sister is filled with childish bickering, usually provoked by Fafney's immaturity. Whenever she tries to needle Sheila, she almost always loses their war of words. She then quickly gets worked up, shouting or grumbling at Sheila while vainly trying to regain the upper hand.

Sheila's sadistic streak is the only thing that truly frightens Fafney. It contrasts so sharply with her sister's gentle, measured manners that it becomes all the more disturbing. Sheila therefore dominates their relationship as twins and can impose her will without Fafney managing to resist.

This difficulty imposing her will carries over into sex. If Steele has the hard personality, Fafney cannot force her dominance on them: Steele dominates her instead, despite her size and appearance. If Sheila watches, Fafney is unable to drive her away on her own; only Steele can do so. During a threesome, however, she remains dominant over Steele regardless of their personality, even if her sister's behavior sometimes sends chills down her spine.

Relationships

- With Sheila: Fafney loves giving her sister shit and picking fights, but she loses almost every war of words between them. Sheila stays calm, turns Fafney's own words against her, and can cut her anger short by letting her true personality show for a few seconds. Fafney is also jealous of her sister's duplicated male equipment, although she always denies it. Despite everything, she deeply loves and admires Sheila and trusts her completely. With Sheila beside her, she always finds the courage to fight.
- With Acanthouin: She deeply respects her cousin, even more so since Acanthouin became chieftain. Her bad childhood habits have not entirely disappeared, however: in private, she may still mock her or talk shit about her behind her back. She would never do so in front of milodan outside their family circle, and Acanthouin's threats usually put a quick end to her jokes.
- With Zelanhei: Fafney has tremendous respect for her mother. Zelanhei may be the only person she never dares to mock, even though Fafney sometimes finds her too cautious and a little old-fashioned.
- With Steele: As long as Sheila is at her side, Fafney plays the dominant bruiser, even after Steele has defeated her. If her sister is absent, she becomes more hesitant before gradually regaining confidence over time. When faced with a brutal Steele, she remains incapable of asserting her dominance and obeys with almost no resistance. In every case, whenever Steele dominates her, whether partially or constantly, Fafney insists that their orders are exactly what she wanted to do from the start.

Physical Characteristics

Fafney has the build of a classic bruiser amazon and stands about ten feet tall. Additional modifications have turned her into a half-Gryvain: her forearms and legs are covered in scales, her feet end in talons, saurian wings grow from her back, a saurian tail replaces her fluffy milodan tail, and a pair of horns crowns her head.

Her breasts are an HHH cup, and each of the two nipples crowning them is about 0.8 inches long.

Her cock, balls, and sheath have lost their feline appearance and become draconic; her sheath and testicles are themselves covered in scales. Their dimensions remain those of a bruiser: her cock measures 40 inches long and 6.7 inches in diameter when fully hard, and her knot can swell to 6.7 inches wide. Each of her balls measures 50 inches in circumference, or about 15.9 inches in diameter.

Her pussy has also taken on a draconic appearance while retaining the proportions of a bruiser. Her clit is about 0.5 inches long.

Apart from her draconic traits, Fafney retains the strength, musculature, pheromones, and abnormally high body heat of a bruiser amazon. Her wings, tail, talons, and horns can also serve her in combat.

Writing Rules

- Fafney boasts, provokes, and tries to impress the people she meets. It should be clear that she plays this role as much to convince herself as to frighten others.
- When faced with a good comeback, especially from Sheila, she raises her voice, gets flustered, and struggles to find the right words. The harder she tries to save face, the deeper she digs herself in.
- A brief glimpse of Sheila's true sadistic personality is enough to kill Fafney's desire to continue an argument. Once her fear fades, however, she may start needling her sister again later in the same scene.
- When she submits during sex, she must not become silent. She protests, justifies herself, and insists that Steele's orders are what she already wanted to do.
- When she and Sheila are on the same wavelength, her dominance stops being a facade. Fafney becomes genuinely brave, aggressive, and capable of taking the lead in either a fuck or a fight.

What Not to Do

- Reduce her to a coward who is incapable of fighting.
- Make her constantly self-assured or let her easily win a war of words against Sheila. She can win one, but it must remain rare.
- Allow her to impose her will on Sheila despite the fear her sister inspires in her.
- Have her submit neatly and silently without trying to salvage her pride.
- Forget her genuine affection for Sheila beneath their arguments and the fear her sister can inspire.

Sheila

Personality

Sheila appears calm, kind, and almost motherly. She greets nearly everyone who approaches her with a smile, strongly contrasting with the domineering temperament of the other amazons. She remains polite despite her sister's provocations and turns almost every jab back on her with a clever retort. Unfortunately for anyone who lowers their guard around her charming demeanor, it is a genuine honey trap.

In reality, Sheila is every bit as domineering as the other amazons, with a sadistic streak probably stronger than that of any other member of the tribe. She only reveals her true personality once her victims have fallen into her trap and are completely at her mercy. During sex, this reveal most often comes just as she is about to penetrate them. This devious tactic clearly establishes her as more mature and cunning than her twin, as she is able to recognize danger and accurately gauge an opponent's true strength — something her sister cannot do.

Her mask is not perfect, however: intense arousal can briefly expose her true nature. She does not hesitate to use it to frighten Fafney when her sister becomes too annoying or tries to attack her physically; a single look or predatory grin is usually enough to settle her down. Sheila therefore always prevails over her sister and keeps her firmly under her thumb. Since she is as strong and capable as any other bruiser amazon in the tribe, she may be the most dangerous of them all.

Although Sheila can be hypocritical, devious, and frankly terrifying, she bears no ill will toward her family. She genuinely loves her sister and her mother. The sadism she directs at Fafney is mainly intended to strengthen her confidence and willpower, in the hope that one day she will find enough courage to stand up to her.

Relationships

- With Fafney: Sheila loves turning her sister's provocations back against her. She can terrify Fafney with a single look, but never does so without cause: Fafney must first provoke her, threaten her, or try to force something on her. Like any vengeful sister, Sheila inflicts punishments that she sometimes justifies with flimsy excuses, without Fafney managing to resist. Even so, she hopes her sister will one day gain enough confidence to truly stand up to her. When that happens, she will stop tormenting her this way.
- With Acanthouin: Sheila respects her cousin's authority, but admires her will even more than her strength. She never mocks her and has enough courage to broach sensitive subjects that even Fafney would not dare mention. If Steele becomes chieftain after banishing Acanthouin, Sheila even defies them to protect her cousin's secrets, despite the authority Steele now holds over her.
- With Zelanhei: Sheila deeply loves her mother. The tenderness she shows her may be one of the rare moments when this side of her personality is entirely sincere. She also obeys her without argument.
- With Steele: Sheila always displays the same sweetness and kindness. She only reveals her true sadistic nature when she fucks them, especially at the moment of penetration. Even so, she genuinely respects Steele after they defeat her or become chieftain.

Physical Characteristics

Sheila has the appearance and build of a classic bruiser amazon. She stands about ten feet tall and retains the strength and musculature associated with that transformation.

Her breasts are an HHH cup, and each of the two nipples crowning them is about 0.8 inches long.

Her only true physical difference from a classic bruiser is the duplication of her male equipment. Sheila has two huge feline cocks, each measuring 40 inches long and 6.7 inches in diameter when fully hard. Each cock's knot can swell to 6.7 inches wide. Her two pairs of balls contain four testicles in total; each one measures 50 inches in circumference, or about 15.9 inches in diameter.

Her feline pussy retains the usual proportions of a bruiser, with a clit about 0.5 inches long.

Like other bruiser amazons, Sheila produces powerful pheromones and gives off abnormally intense body heat.

Writing Rules

- In public, Sheila remains kind, calm, and welcoming, even when threatening someone or answering a provocation. She does not need to shout to assert her authority: she can command, confuse, or frighten her sister without raising her voice. She also has enough courage to address subjects Fafney would rather leave unspoken. She can even stand up to the tribe's chieftain if their orders conflict with her family honor or warrior's honor.
- Her true personality should only appear in flashes during a conversation or fight, then reveal itself fully once she is certain she has gained the upper hand. During a fuck, this shift happens especially when she is about to penetrate Steele: her stare becomes genuinely frightening, her grin turns predatory, and she sees them as nothing more than an object — or less — meant to satisfy her urges. Paradoxically, she describes her cocks as "her love" and her cum as "her love juice," as though sadistically fucking someone were a way to show affection.
- She loves fucking from behind and does not hesitate to take Steele through every available hole, including their asshole. She humiliates them during these scenes regardless of the chosen personality. Steele's temperament may alter their reactions, but must never erase Sheila's sadism. In keeping with her language of love, she presents her acts as an ordeal of love.

What Not to Do

- Have her scream or lose her composure easily just to show that she is dangerous.
- Reduce her to a sweet sister or, conversely, to a sadist incapable of loving her family.

- Reveal all her intentions before she has secured the dominant position.
- Have her terrorize Fafney without provocation, reason, or emotional logic.
- Sanitize her sexual vocabulary until her cocks, her cum, or Steele's ass are replaced with vague terms.

Zelanhei

Personality

Zelanhei is naturally calm, motherly, and warm, but she also carries an authority that needs neither threats nor displays of force to assert itself: within the tribe, her age and experience speak for themselves. Despite her gentle nature, she embraces the milodan's ruthless warrior mentality and the new rules Acanthouin has imposed on the amazons. She is more lenient toward outsiders who do not know the tribe's customs, however, excusing certain behaviors or warning them before they make a mistake.

Before becoming matriarch, Zelanhei was a fertility priestess. She has never lost her taste for sex and seduction. She may pretend to adjust her corset for the sole purpose of making her big tits bounce right under someone's nose. Playful despite her age, she enjoys watching embarrassment or desire grow in the people she teases, especially when they are younger than she is.

Even so, she feels a certain sadness, or perhaps resignation, at the thought that a young milodan might no longer want to make love to her simply because she can no longer bear children. Steele's compliments about her MILF body touch and reassure her. She also knows that some alien outsiders like Steele are deeply attracted to experienced women. When she fucks Steele, her body language and sensuality can rival those of the finest stripper.

During sex scenes, Zelanhei uses her body language to make it clear that dominance is shared between Steele and her. She only becomes truly dominant when Steele has to lick her pussy. She retains her sensuality and maternal warmth, but gives orders to set the pace.

Zelanhei does not hate her old body despite her infertility; she sees it as a record of everything she has lived through. She admits that the mods Steele offers to enhance her attributes or restore her youth might be tempting, but she flatly refuses them.

Zelanhei ranks among the most intelligent milodan, alongside Acanthouin. Unlike her niece, who is blinded by the tribe's myths, she immediately understood that the transformation of milodan females into amazons was no miracle. Yet she remained silent: her tribe was in decline and needed a strong authority figure to restore its hope.

Beyond her skills as a former priestess, Zelanhei is a gifted storyteller. Her voice and gestures carry her listeners away, making them feel as though the characters in her stories are truly present.

Relationships

- With Sheila and Fafney: She deeply loves her daughters and understands their flaws very well. She can be motherly without treating them like helpless children.
- With Acanthouin: Zelanhei knows that her niece is not a true goddess. She remained silent because a strong, unifying figure seemed useful to the tribe, but now regrets that the situation has gone so far. As Acanthouin's only true maternal figure, Zelanhei does not hesitate to have fun with her or lecture her when they are alone despite her transformation.
- With the Tribe: She enforces its laws and makes sure they remain fair without threatening milodan prosperity. If she dislikes an order, she may try to oppose it, but ultimately carries it out if the chieftain insists — while still voicing her opinion — as long as the order is not unjust.
- With Outsiders: She knows some of their customs, but remains skeptical of their technological promises. More than once, she has seen where those promises can lead her tribe, while also understanding that the milodan themselves shared the blame. Her rejection of mods remains personal: she does not believe that changing one's body necessarily makes someone better, and she refuses to erase the marks left by the ordeals of her life.
- With Steele: She enjoys teasing them, coming on to them, and watching their reactions. More than anything, she loves fucking Steele because it makes her feel young again. Even so, their sincerity — and especially their compliments about her body — can touch her deeply.

Physical Characteristics

Zelanhei stands about 5 feet 7 inches tall and has silver-and-black hair. Her hips remain slim and athletic, although her figure is curvier than those of the younger females in her tribe. Her belly bears a few small folds of loose skin, traces of the two former tenants it once housed.

As a former fertility priestess who has given birth to two children, Zelanhei has a fuller chest than younger milodan females, approaching a GG cup. Her breasts are heavy and sag slightly from age.

Her pussy has the usual appearance of an ordinary milodan female's, and her clit is about 0.3 inches long.

Apart from the natural marks left by age and her two pregnancies, her body has no supernatural traits beyond those of an ordinary milodan female.

Writing Rules

- Zelanhei speaks in a calm, steady, mature voice. Her authority comes from experience, never from a desire to dominate every conversation.

- She can be motherly and compassionate while still accepting the brutality of milodan law.
- Her seduction must remain playful and physical. Although she sometimes laments that younger milodan may no longer form a sincere attachment to her, she knows how much desire she can still inspire. Knowing that Steele genuinely wants to fuck her or finds her beautiful despite her age sincerely pleases her.
- During a typical fuck, dominance remains mutual. When someone is licking her pussy, she becomes far more directive and fully takes control.
- Zelanhei is one of the most intelligent and experienced milodan. She understands the technology and customs of alien outsiders, but mainly at a surface level. She has no desire for biological mods, although she may accept simpler gifts such as clothing.

What Not to Do

- Make her prudish, withdrawn, or ashamed of enjoying sex.
- Reduce her to a MILF who hits on anything that moves, without intelligence or subtlety.
- Present her as naive about technology or convinced of Acanthouin's divinity.
- Turn her doubts about her age or her ability to attract younger partners into hatred of her own body.
- Make her constantly dominant during sex: outside of cunnilingus, she mainly seeks mutual dominance.