

Subject: QGIS User Conference 2024 & Contributor Meeting

Join us for the biggest QGIS event of the year!

QGIS User Conference 2024 site is up: <https://uc2024.qgis.sk/>

We are happy to announce that the QGIS User Conference will take place 9-10 September 2024 in Bratislava, Slovakia! The conference will take place at the Faculty of Civil Engineering at Slovak Technical University. The contributor meeting will follow on 11-13 September at the same venue.

The event is being organized by the Slovak QGIS user group in collaboration with the Faculty of Civil Engineering STU, with support from the QGIS.org association.

About the User Conference:

The QGIS User Conference is the premier event for QGIS users and developers. It is a great opportunity to learn about the latest features and developments in QGIS, network with other users, and share your knowledge.

Registration & Call for Papers will be announced in the coming weeks.

About the Contributor Meeting:

QGIS Contributors Meetings are volunteer-driven events where contributors to the QGIS project from around the world get together in a common space. During these events, contributors to the QGIS project take the opportunity to plan their work, hold face-to-face discussions and present new improvements to the QGIS project that they have been working on. Everybody attending the event donates their time to the project for the days of the event.

Registration for the Contributor Meeting is available on GitHub:
