Summary: Hiraeth is a Welsh word for longing or nostalgia, an earnest longing or desire, or a sense of regret. The feeling of longing for a home that no longer exists or never was. A deep and irrational bond felt with a time, era, place or person.

Will woke up in the hospital and whined. He only knew two things; his name and the fact he had a baby.

Zeus struck his house with a thunderbolt as punishment, ending his line. The festival it birthed celebrated the rite of passage from youth into manhood. Sacrifices were made to Zeus at nighttime towards the end of May, a single morsel of human flesh intermingled with that of the sacrificial animal, and whoever ate it was said to transform into a wolf for nine years."

**

In trouble with the police, Will Graham is tasked with finding himself a bodyguard, but Will isn't as vulnerable as he seems. By following Jack Crawford's command, Will unknowingly invites a presence into his house that draws out new passions as well as old savageries. In between delicate underground transactions and attacks on his pack runs a river of blood, starting between Will's own fangs, and the one adversary aiming to bury Will for good.

Summary: The nurse squares her shoulders. A brave woman, facing down a distressed Alpha separated from his labouring mate. Then again, she probably can't smell the scents souring the air inside the room.

"Your husband is ready to see you," she says, a small smile ghosting her lips. She takes a step inside. Brave woman, not only facing down an enraged Alpha, but a hunter. A maelstrom of thought swirls around; plans to hunt those who kept him from Will, other assurances that what he's feeling is just hormones, and that Will is fine because of those said people—

The nurse lifts her hands, gesturing to the muzzle holding his jaw shut. "I can take it off of you now," she explains, "just as long as you agree that your walk from here to your husband's room is a peaceful one."

Summary: The good thing about being bonded was that eventually, your cycles synced up. Heats and ruts could still be triggered by outside circumstances, but generally, both you and your partner suffered together, instead of alone. Will had always been more or less regular, heats coming every three months, give or take a few days. Hannibal was like clockwork, a perfectly scheduled three-day weekend every three months. When they got together, they synchronized almost immediately.

Will was busy, however. He didn't always remember to track his heat- he had Hannibal for that. He didn't realize he was late until he came home to a red-eyed Alpha growling at him from the doorway of the kitchen.

Summary: Will Graham is an omega in an alpha's world - he's used to not always being taken seriously and has no time for alpha bullshit. The last thing he expected was to make friends with an alpha! Sure Hannibal Lecter is interesting and clever, he even treats omegas with respect, but Will isn't planning on anything more than friendship. But after they unintentionally end up sleeping together they need to work out if they can still be friends in the morning.

Summary: Leaning down on one knee, Hannibal gripped Will's hips and nosed up the inside of his lean, boyish thigh before dragging his tongue over his soaking hole, a low groan rumbling over his lips. Shoving three fingers deep inside Will's hole and out again, Hannibal reached around and forced the same three fingers into Will's mouth.

"See how needy you taste? Who does this belong to? Who is your Daddy?"

Greedy moans escaped his mouth, breathed out through lungs that gasped for air as Hannibal pressed those fingers in and then all but fed them to him. He sucked on them, hungry for anything his Alpha would give.

"You are," he groaned around the fingers, "You're my Daddy, Hannibal."

Hannibal positioned himself between Will's parted thighs and brushed the swollen knot of his cock up Will's cleft, teasing his hole, "Who is your Daddy? I want to hear you beg for it, little wolf. You won't be anyone else's after this. After I have claimed you, you understand?"

"Hannibal-" he gasped out, almost a cry as the swelling ache for release started to throb through his loins. "Y-you are, Hannibal. You're my Daddy. No one else."

Summary: William La Fontaine hates the opera.

The music is fine, but the people are unbearable. All the backstabbing simpering society climbing omegas that look down at him for the – unwanted – attention he receives from the boorish, old money alphas, who look at him like he's a piece of meat, caring only for his body and his last name.

Also, he might have just imprinted on some alpha doctor with a foreign accent and beautifully tempting monsters in his compelling dark eyes, whom his sister thinks has a 'serial killer face.'

Will thinks it's possible that she's more right than she knows. It's also possible that Will could care less.

Will is going to need something much stronger than this champagne.

William La Fontaine hates the opera.

A Wage Your War AU, based on the idea of what if Will's mother hadn't left Will and his father when Will was three, as in that fic, and that he was raised in his mother's rich household. You should read that fic first, as otherwise this one won't make too much sense. Hannigram A/B/O.

Summary: Fifteen years ago an apocalypse devastated the planet, leaving it a hot, dry, barren wasteland. For those who survived, it's a day-to-day struggle to stay alive with little to no water. Will Graham lives in a peaceful community that's better off than most as it has a trade agreement for water with a nearby community that discovered an underground water source on their territory. But when the truck that goes to pick up their regular shipment of water vanishes with Will's friend Alana Bloom on board, Jack Crawford and Will leave the safety of their community to try and discover what happened. But discovering the truth may cost them both their lives.

Based on a short story by Connie Faddis.

Summary: "Are you a gambling man, Will?"

Will blinked. "I've never had the time or means."

"You have both now," Hannibal spread a palm at his side, a strangely welcoming gesture.

"You seek independence from an Alpha, but the opportunities only a bond could provide, correct?"

Will nodded slowly, eyes narrowing as he flicked them between the doctor's own.

"I seek a companion with whom to build a life and family, going forward."

Will shook his head slowly. "I don't follow."

Will is an Omega who desires independence, freedom, and the opportunity to be anything but a barefoot-pup-bearing simpering thing. Hannibal is an Alpha who finds his mind curious. They make a deal: if Will can convince Hannibal before his next heat that he is worth more than breeding stock, and can go through his heat without begging for his Alpha, Hannibal will not mate him, but make him a ward instead; Will could go to college, get a job, do anything he wanted.

If not, then he will be Hannibal's mate, bear pups, and accept his role.

But is it really as simple as that?

Summary: "You know your tone is very rude." Growls the alpha as he exhales some smoke. "Well it's rude for someone to ask about your love life when they bump into you on the street. Even ruder not to apologize when it's their fault!" Will snarls before he remembers, he is not talking to some alpha from school.

He finds himself slammed up against the wall by a very irritated large alpha caging him. Both his hands on either side of his head and his body close but not touching Will.

Summary: Will Graham is a fish out of water, sprung straight from the Bayou, the first in his family to go to college. His dad hadn't understood why he wanted to go and why he would bother with a degree. He'd wanted Will to stay in Louisiana and work on diesel engines with him; no need to go anywhere or spend any money for that. Will might have actually been enticed by the simplicity and ease of it all if the offer hadn't come with an unsaid, but palpable until you're mated and won't work anymore. It was a sentiment that acutely reminded him that he needed to get out, get away. He needed to go somewhere else where he might be able to be more than just an Omega someday.

Posters line the walls. Dr. Lecter's name, of course, makes many appearances, usually one or two places behind the names of Master's and Doctorate students and their post-nominal letters. This presumably means that these are poster presentations from a plethora of conferences, signals of how students have succeeded under Dr. Lecter's watch.

Summary: Will goes to a heat clinic a few days before he is due, to determine whether he wants to use the facility. But then he finds himself blindly following the scent of a delicious Alpha. Before he knows what's happening, he finds himself naked, bound, and gagged on an examination table that is being prepared for a medical demonstration, given by Dr. Lecter to a room full of students on how to properly treat an omega during heat. At first he is mortified, but Dr. Lecter's treatment soon has him enjoying himself to the point of begging for more.

Summary: Jack yelled his frustrations about Will to Dr. Lecter, screaming his disappointment at how after a full six months of marriage, Will had yet to have a single heat.
"I paid a substantial dowry for him." Jack said. "Otherwise I wouldn't go through this trouble."
"I understand." Dr. Lecter said. "I do believe I understand the trouble here."

Jack nodded and leaned in.

"I am happy to say that my services are quite capable of helping in this situation. I believe all little Will needs is a good milking."

Jack sighed with relief, his shoulders lowering just a hair. Will swallowed nervously.

He was all too aware of what type of 'services' this doctor provided; and were he not so afraid of Jack, he would never have agreed to this.

Summary: None still live to remember the world as it was before. But, with preserved knowledge the remnants of society have reformed, thrived with a return to simpler times among the ashes.

A king spurned by his unfaithful, foolish mate has spent years punishing others who shared his qualities be it through his public carnage of taking omegas only to quickly discard them or private killings of human pigs.

An omega verse set in a dystopian world returned roughly to the Middle Ages and inspired loosely by The Arabian Nights of King Hannibal and his intelligent and fascinating omega Will.

Summary: "The two raiders eventually came across a rather strange sight. In the middle of a clearing in the woods, there was a small hut. Smoke rose from the chimney and it looked well-lived in. They approached the house carefully, seeing a young man sitting in front of a fire outside the hut, surrounded by a small pack of wolves who seemed quite taken with the lad. They nuzzled up against him, their tails wagging even when he pet them in return. As the two foreigners approached, landing a few feet away, one of the wolves noticed the raiders' close proximity and let out a warning growl, the rest following suit with threatening stances and growls. The young man looked up to see them, standing up defensively, one hand twitching as if it were going to reach for the very sharp axe that was propped up against a log beside him."

A Historical Fantasy Anglosaxon/'Viking' era ABO fic I made impulsively one day.

The Rape/Non-con warning is here because there are discussions about corrective rape in passing. Nothing non-consensual really happens.

The mildly dubious consent tag is there because there's sex that is consensual but very under-negotiated.

Summary: In the ancient world of Peleos, omegas don't have any worth to the villagers.

They are subjected to cruel omega hunts. Every year, Will's village casts out omegas who have been living as betas among them or omegas that have just presented in their families. Will Graham is among the exposed ones. Hannibal the Cannibal is among the hunters but he never took pride in participating in this barbaric ritual nor claimed an omega for himself.

But when he sees Will Graham for the first time, it changes and he wants the omega as his mate. And Will just wants to protect little Abby and himself. When the hunt ends, everything changes for them.

Summary: Omegaverse. Con 29 años de edad, Will Graham sabe bien que ya no está para esas horribles fiestas llenas de alfas y cosas así. Con su finca y su trabajo, casi sin contacto humano, bien puede darse el lujo de una vida tranquila, con su perro y días de pesca. Claro, hasta que el conde Lecter le propone comprar sus terrenos y frente a su, obvia, negativa, comienza un cortejo que Will no sabe en qué acabará.

Mientras, Hannibal Lecter, en toda la gloriosa manipulación con la que ha vivido su vida, nunca se ha topado con un hombre tan molesto, desarreglado y poco natural como el omega. Viendo una nueva oportunidad de lograr salir de la rutina y ganar algo a cambio, no duda en iniciar un juego en el que se sabe ganador. Siempre que no ceda en lo que su sangrante corazón le muestra con claridad, él no está para esos viciosos sentimientos, y una debilidad como el amor.

Summary: England, 1811. Social status is everything, and the obsession of every parent is to see their children married well. For twenty-year-old Omega Will Graham, life in a small Hertfordshire market town with his father, adopted mother and four half-sisters is tranquil, if a little dull. Until, that is, a party of strangers arrives in the neighbourhood, sending every mother within five miles into a frenzy of anticipation. For not only are the newcomers Alpha aristocracy, but one among them - Mr Hannibal Lecter - is the owner of the largest estate in Derbyshire... and single. A pity, then, that Will and Hannibal's first meeting is less than auspicious. But sometimes, fate and circumstance have a way of conspiring to bring together even the most stubborn of individuals...

His Grandfather has made good on a contract made shortly after Hannibal's birth to procure him a wife. It was supposed to be easy. Naturally, with the Omega, Will, given in the place of his twin sister, it is anything but, because if there is one thing Hannibal Lecter despises, it's Omegas.

Summary: A 'Most Dangerous Game' AU with an A/B/O and cannibalistic twist.

The year is 1927 and Will Graham is a male omega masquerading as a beta so he can live a semi-normal life in a time where male omegas are rare and thought of as unnatural. He's thrilled when he lands a job on a luxury liner, but then fate takes a cruel turn when the ship sinks. He survives with another young passenger, Abigail Hobbs, and it seems like a miracle when there's an island nearby where a Count and his nephew and two servants live. But as Will discovers, there are survivors from a previous wreck staying with the Count, and as suspicions grow Will has to ask himself, why would the Count and his nephew choose to live all alone on an island?

Summary: Even many years later, Hannibal isn't quite able to put into words what, exactly, drew him to step off the beaten path and take a detour to a nearby stream, although he supposes seeing an enormous crowd of pitchfork-wielding peasants gathered around a pyre to burn a supposed witch-boy is reason enough.

"Useless things are fit only for burning," the boy - Will Graham - tells him, so Hannibal plucks him off the pyre and goes about making him useful as his apprentice.

Summary: On Tumblr, Anon asked: Hiya, I was hoping you could write a Hannigram Harem Au. Hannibal is King and Will a concubine from when Hannibal was a prince. Since he ascended the throne, the council has been pressuring Hannibal to take a foreign princess as his Queen. Will has always been detached and reluctant in his role as concubine but as the possibility of a Queen grows near, he finds himself having conflicted feelings. But in the end Hannibal makes Will his Queen and happily ever after. Mpreg included please! Thanks

Hannibal tilts his head, and a deep scowl begins to furrow his features, "Will, where are you going?"

There is a soft smile gracing Will's lips as he speaks, and he opens the door just as gently, "I am taking my permanent leave now that my services to you are no longer required."

Will can feel, well, the boy feels everything. He will know all...if you let him see. Will you be his eyes when I pass? No...will you allow him to become yours?"

Memories of a boy, no more than twelve, clutching his dying father in trembling arms played back in Hannibal's mind. He did not know how the child had ended up slipping under his radar disguised as a Beta, but he supposed it wasn't of much consequence, as he breathed in the sweet pheromones undeniably characteristic of a young, virgin Omega in the throes of heat.

Summary: Will, an organic, works for the Artifice Behavioral Analysis Unit wherein he investigates heinous crimes involving synthetic persons; including homocides or syntheticsides, should the victim be an Artifice. His high rate of success stems from being an empath, a rare and invaluable trait that developed in humans as a result of excess technology, granting him the ability to read the emotions of both humans and Artifices. That same talent, coupled with a compromised immune system born of long-term suppressant use, causes Will to contract a brain fever that leaves him with only two options: give up his work in the field or have an Artificial Neural Assistant implanted in his head.

Summary: This is the third and final part of this series. Thank you so much for sticking with it. Will smiles as he knows what this means. He stops, stands and crosses his arms across his chest, his book bag swinging on his shoulder. Hannibal takes the sight in of Will, barefoot, a sheen of sweat from the summer air and rushing to get home, his jeans low on his hips and t shirt a little transparent and hums in approval. "Daddy has a present for you." Hannibal says. Raising an eyebrow Will uncrosses his arms and takes a step closer to Hannibal dropping his book bag unceremoniously on the floor. "Does Daddy want to play?" Will whispers in excitement.

Hannibal reaches out with his hand and gently runs his fingers through Will's curls feeling the slight dampness he breathes in that scent of fresh grass and summer evenings. "Yes, my sweet, Daddy would very much like to play with his whore." Will closes his eyes and hums at hearing that word again. It has been so long and he has been dreaming of Hannibal calling him those names.

Summary: Hannibal returns late that evening he is tired and frustrated. He has been working long days and is not getting to spend as much time on other things he enjoys. His thoughts of course have been distracted by Will, images of long lithe legs, blue eyes and perfect expanses of skin. At inopportune moments Hannibal is struck by the memory of fucking Will in his kitchen, whenever he is driving his eyes slide to the rear view mirror and a moan leaves his lips as he remembers all the things that back seat has seen.

The scent of Will is still strong in his car but it lingers all around him wherever he is, driving him mad. He knows he should have called his sweet Omegan whore but Hannibal also likes the idea of Will becoming just as frustrated as he is.

Summary: Will just isn't making ends meet. All his money is going on his college tuition and he has nothing left for anything else. His rent is due at the end of the week and he has been living off noodles for the last month. This is how the small Omega ends up washing cars at the local Carwash for the summer. At least it's summer, he thinks, this would really not be fun in the winter. Not that it's particularly fun right now. It's hard work and it's hot. He is also noticing he gets catcalled a lot by the Alpha's and some Betas, which at first was off putting but now he finds the ones that catcall also tip. Summary: Will loves the feeling of Hannibal's teeth grazing his flesh like that. He is longing to feel them sink into him so they can be bonded. He loves and hates that Hannibal is making him wait. Will brings his other hand up to his mouth and takes the rose from it brushing it down his chest. "Mmm how many days left Daddy?"

Will asks Hannibal how many days until they are bonded everyday, and everyday it makes Hannibal smile "come for me and I will tell you." Hannibal watches as Will removes a petal from the rose dropping the rest on the floor, he brushes the petal over the shaft of his cock. This time Hannibal moans remembering Will on his knees with a rose petal in his mouth on Hannibal's cock.

Summary: Hannibal had been one of the lead Professors at John Hopkins for the past ten years. He was well liked and respected. He lectured in aspects of psychology and psychiatry specialising in profiling, he also had a significant medical and surgical background and still published in these areas.

Living as a single Alpha alone for all of the time he had been here, taking a few lovers but no one had really managed to keep his interest. Subsequently he was very much a mystery to the other faculty members and students who all wondered about him. He was good looking, intelligent, had money, he was in all aspects a catch. He could have his pick of anyone but seemingly chose to remain alone. Mostly Hannibal did not really care for other people finding them exhausting, the thought of living with the same person for an extended amount of time filled him with dread and a low level anxiety. He valued his privacy above all else, his home was his sanctuary and he wanted it to stay that way. His life was good, he felt no need to change it.

Until he meets a young omegan student by the name of Will Graham...

Summary:

В глазах Ганнибала бескрайняя пустыня. Там, в этой темной душе, нет ничего. Совсем. Не растет ничего. Кровавые пески не греют, только скрывают за собой множество-множество трупов. Уилл знает, что стоит всего немного разрыть этот песок, как наткнется на кости. И в этой пустыне Лектер хочет посадить Грэма, как диковинный цветок. Или кактус. Скорее всего, второе, потому что цветок завянет и погибнет, а Уилл — нет.

Somnophilia, belly bulge, Stockholm Syndrome, Blood As Lube, Spanking, Mindbreak, no beta we die like men, Whump

Summary: Usually it's the prettier, more delicate, younger omegas that get put in unfortunate situations like these. Usually it's because some alpha in their lives assumed that they have the rights to their body, and the omega in question wasn't smart enough to catch the signs of obsession before so-called Omega-Induced Monomania (OIM) takes over. Many an alpha have been acquitted on the grounds of OIM—Will has seen it more times than he can count. After all, it's the omega's fault for giving off the wrong impression, for taking advantage of an alpha's possessive and aggressive instincts. For luring them into an omegan thrall, in order to get attention. Play with fire and you get burned, and all that.

On some level, Will agrees—alphas are particularly susceptible to any signals from any omega, real or imagined. And in many cases, the omega remains with the alpha after discovery—more proof that they'd simply gotten what they wanted all along. Some say the omega was asking for it. Some say they wanted it. Some say it was their plan all along, and that the alpha in question should be compensated for their trouble. Either way, general consensus points to the same outcome it always does: omegan submission.

Summary: Written for the #justfuckmeup kink fest from Hannibal Cre-Ate-Ive.

Hannibal stops taking his suppressants without consulting Will. A weekend of hedonism and humour follows - could it lead to an update in relationship status too?

In the living room, he found Hannibal seated behind the desk. He'd loosened his tie and undone the top two buttons of his shirt. His colour was high and his scent was thick in Will's mouth. He must be uncomfortable in his well-fitted suit.

'Good', Will thought vindictively. 'That'll serve him right.'

Belongs in the Quicksilver AU where Will is young and genderfluid - an AU of an AU which can be read with no knowledge of the original.
