

Launching CSI Yacht Club at Cruise Ship Interiors Design Expo Europe

Published: 30 September 2026

Cruise Ship Interiors Design Expo Europe (CSI Europe) is expanding its focus on yacht interiors, reflecting the growing convergence between cruise and yacht design as guest expectations shift towards more exclusive, luxury experiences.

As luxury cruising evolves beyond the traditional ocean cruise, a new generation of ultra-luxury, yacht-style vessels are creating greater crossover between specifiers and suppliers working across both sectors. As the only trade fair dedicated to cruise interior design, CSI Europe (2 – 3 December, Hamburg) is evolving alongside the market to bring these increasingly connected communities together.

We saw the launch of the Four Seasons I in March earlier this year, with plans for the Four Seasons II to debut in May 2028. The Ritz-Carlton Yacht Collection is well known for its luxury amenities including wellness areas, high-end boutiques, and five restaurants onboard each of its three ships, Ilma, Evrima, and Luminara. Orient Express have also entered the yacht market as they strive for energy-efficient and environmental based accomplishments.

This continuing evolution brings forward the brand-new CSI Yacht Club, catering specifically to yacht interior designers, specifiers, project managers, and procurement teams. So, what better time to jump onboard?

CSI Yacht Club will feature a strategic level content session (to be announced soon), tailored networking for the yacht community, and a curated guide of exhibitors who serve to both cruise and yacht sectors. Exhibiting companies include Carnegie, Herculan, Marine Leather, Nautica Ship Interior, Savage Lighting, and Yacht Wrapping Group to name a few.

"Having attended CSI Expo over the years, I've always appreciated the opportunity to connect across the marine interiors industry. With over 20 years in yacht design and new-build projects, I'm particularly excited about the launch of the CSI Yacht Club. This is a fantastic opportunity to bring the cruise and yachting sectors together, encourage the exchange of ideas, and build new connections. I'm very much looking forward to being part of this new chapter!" Lisandro Torres, Senior Yacht Designer - Project Manager, Yacht Design Lab / Lo Studio M

This continued evolution of the industry makes CSI Europe the ideal meeting place for yacht interior designers and project managers to connect with specifiers and suppliers alike working across high-end marine projects.

Source the latest luxury products, exchange knowledge, and build stronger relationships across the yacht design community – in one streamlined visit.
