QUEENS, NY – Today, the campaign of Assemblymember Zohran Mandani announced fundraising totals for its first public filing of his campaign for New York City Mayor. In just 80 days since launching, Mamdani raised $642,339 from 6,502 unique donors – both numbers are by far the highest of the 2025 cycle. He is also the first candidate to qualify for matching funds at the first opportunity.

Of that total, the campaign estimates at least $300,000 will be matched by the city's public financing program, resulting in an additional $2.4 million to the campaign next month for a total raise of more than $3 million.

More than 80% of Mamdani's donors – 5,460 individuals – reside in New York City across all five boroughs, with a median donation of $50. The #1 profession of donors is educator.

"I am overwhelmed and profoundly grateful for the outpouring of support from nearly every neighborhood in New York City," said Assemblymember Zohran Mamdani. "We knew there was a hunger for a different kind of politics but this is beyond even our highest expectations. Our thousands of donors have launched us and our vision for a more affordable city into the top tier of this race."
