  "description": "During the restoration process, your home is going to be restored to its original state. Drywall and flooring will be replaced or repaired and so will the other structural parts of your home that were infested by mold. The service is also going to clean the contents of your home using a variety of methods.

Some of the contents will be dry cleaned if the residue isn't severe. Wet cleaning works well on residue that is heavier. Some items will be sprayed and wiped while others will need to be immersed into a cleaning solution to finally get clean.

The mold restoration process is complicated, but it must be done to remove all the mold. Any mold that isn't removed is going to start growing again, and before you know it, you will have another infestation to deal with",
