 A note from Mrs. Chern... It has been an AMAZING first week. The class is quickly catching on to new routines and settling in. This week was all about learning our new space, learning B.E.A.R.S. expectations for the 1st grade classroom, and launching One Book, One Brassfield as well as the Positivity Project. Curious what this all is? Join us at Open House to learn more. See below for date and time.

Upcoming Week's Standards...

Reading: Focus on setting goals, strategies for figuring out unknown words, benchmark assessments

Writing: Narrative Writing: choosing an idea, saying a story across our fingers, saying a story across pages, sketching and then adding words.

Spelling: Unit 2

Math: Graphing, organizing numbers and counting into 5 groups.

Social Studies: Rules at home, Rules in our community

 Homework ... We are starting homework this week. You have all week to complete it. It's due Friday. There is a letter to introduce how reading homework should be done throughout the year. Please be sure to read that. There is also two pages on math. One is looking at data and answering questions. The second is collecting data and asking questions. There is also a weekly chore chart for Social Studies to stress the importance of rules at home.
