

PLASMAREGENESIS BIOENERGETIC ASSESSMENT

A foundational scan of your energetic condition, vitality, plasma-light field, and soul-body alignment

Encoded through connection to the Eternal-Self & the Eternal YhU-Rha'-yah Libraries - Eternal Records of the Soul

What You Receive

The PlasmaRegenesi BioEnergetic Assessment is a written energetic report designed to provide a clear overview of your current bioenergetic condition. It focuses on what is presently active within your field - including vitality, living light flow, DNA activation level, energy centers, auric field patterns, emotional and mental imprints, plasma-light field resilience, entity attachments, energy drains, and practical areas for clearing, grounding, or integration.

- Bioenergetic overview
- Living Light Quotient and DNA activation level
- Entity attachments and main energy drains in the field
- Energy centers and flow assessment
- Blocked chakras and auric field overview
- Emotional and mental energy patterns
- Three personal questions
- Personalized recommendations
- Simple integration guidance

Important Note: All observations are offered from an energetic and spiritual perspective only, for educational, self-reflection, and personal development purposes. This scan is not intended to diagnose, treat, cure, or prevent any medical, psychological, legal, or financial condition.

I. BioEnergetic Overview

Purpose: To assess the present condition of your energetic system, vitality, living light flow, and major field influences.

This section provides a foundational view of your bioenergetic anatomy. It explores how life-force, light flow, DNA activation, attachments, drains, and field protection are currently expressing through your system.

Vitality & Life-Force Flow: An assessment of how strongly your life-force appears to be circulating through the field and where energy may feel vibrant, depleted, scattered, or blocked.

Living Light Quotient: The Living Light Quotient reflects how much of your original living light is actively embodied and circulating through your field. A higher quotient indicates stronger connection to your eternal essence and greater inner luminosity, while a lower quotient suggests areas where light is returning, healing, or re-aligning with its original flow.

DNA Activation Level: A reading of the current DNA activation level as expressed through the energetic template, including how much of your available bioenergetic potential appears accessible, dormant, blocked, or preparing for further activation.

Soul-Body Alignment: A reading of how harmoniously your physical, emotional, mental, and spiritual layers are currently communicating with one another.

Entity Attachments: A gentle energetic observation of any external attachments, intrusive thought-forms, spirit residues, or non-integrated field presences that may be influencing vitality, clarity, or emotional balance.

Energy Leaks or Drains: Areas where energy may appear to be escaping, weakening, or being redirected away from your natural flow.

External Energetic Influences: Any subtle influences, thought-forms, emotional residues, or environmental impressions that may be affecting the field.

Protective Field Strength: A general assessment of how supported, shielded, and energetically contained your system appears to be.

Areas Requiring Attention: Any energetic themes, blockages, drains, distortions, or imbalances that may benefit from greater awareness, clearing, grounding, or self-care.

II. Energy Centers & Flow

Purpose: To explore the movement of energy through the chakras, auric layers, heart-mind field, and elemental plasma layers.

This section looks at how energy is moving through your inner architecture. It offers insight into areas where your system feels open and connected, as well as places where energy may appear blocked, congested, overactive, underactive, or disconnected.

Blocked Chakras: A reading of the main energy centers that appear blocked, weakened, overactive, underactive, or requiring harmonization.

Auric Color: The dominant auric color or tone currently expressed through your field, reflecting emotional atmosphere, energetic sensitivity, and the frequency your system is radiating at this time.

Auric Field Overview: A general assessment of the auric field structure, including coherence, density, brightness, sensitivity, and areas of compression or expansion.

Heart-Mind Coherence: A reading of the relationship between emotional truth, mental clarity, inner direction, and the way the heart and mind are currently communicating.

Elemental Plasma Layers State: An overview of the elemental plasma layers within the field, including where the elemental currents appear balanced, weakened, tangled, stagnant, or ready for recalibration.

Flow & Stagnation Patterns: A description of where energy moves naturally and where it may feel interrupted, compressed, delayed, or unable to circulate freely.

III. Emotional & Mental Energy Patterns

Purpose: To identify emotional, subconscious, inner-child, and mental-field imprints currently influencing the energetic system.

This section explores the emotional and mental energies that may be active within your system. These patterns can influence how you perceive yourself, respond to life, process emotions, and interact with your environment.

Dominant Emotional Themes: The emotional currents most visible in the field at the time of the assessment.

Inner Child Patterns: A reading of inner-child imprints, unmet emotional needs, protective adaptations, or early-life emotional residues that may still be influencing the field.

Mental Field Activity: A reading of whether the mental layer appears clear, overstimulated, scattered, compressed, repetitive, foggy, or in need of grounding.

Trapped Emotions / Subconscious Patterns: Energetic indications of emotions, beliefs, fears, or subconscious imprints that may be stored in the field and influencing present responses or life patterns.

Stress or Overload Patterns: Areas where the system may be holding pressure, tension, fear, exhaustion, or energetic heaviness.

Inner Conflict Patterns: Energetic indications of contradiction between desire, fear, belief, emotion, and action.

Patterns Ready for Release: Themes that may be ready to soften, dissolve, or transform through awareness and integration.

IV. Three Personal Questions

Purpose: To provide direct insight into three areas of your current journey.

You may ask up to three personal questions related to your energetic condition, emotional patterns, spiritual development, current life theme, relationships, or connection to your Eternal-Self. This allows the assessment to respond more personally to what you are currently seeking clarity on.

Example Questions:

- What is the main energetic pattern affecting me right now?
- What is my field asking me to pay attention to?
- What do I need to support my healing at this stage?
- Why do I feel blocked in a certain area of life?
- What is my Eternal-Self guiding me to understand at this time?
- What emotional or subconscious pattern is ready to be released?

V. Personalized Recommendations

Purpose: To translate the scan findings into simple, practical energetic support.

This section provides personalized suggestions based on the themes revealed in your assessment. These recommendations are designed to support grounding, clarity, energetic hygiene, emotional release, protective field strengthening, and deeper connection with your Eternal-Self.

Energy Clearing Suggestions: Simple practices to help release heaviness, stagnation, external energetic residue, or emotional buildup.

Grounding Practices: Supportive methods to help anchor your energy more fully into the body and present moment.

Meditation or Reflection Focus: A recommended theme for meditation, journaling, or inner exploration.

Energetic Boundary Support: Suggestions for strengthening field clarity, sovereignty, containment, and protective field resilience.

Self-Healing Direction: Areas of the self that may benefit from deeper care, compassion, integration, or consistent energetic support.

Recommended Next Step: A suggestion for further support, such as a personal consultation, deeper Soul Scan, relevant workshop, or independent integration practice.

Closing Reflection

This assessment is not meant to define you, limit you, or place your energy into a fixed category. It is offered as a mirror - a bioenergetic reflection of the patterns, sensitivities, drains, strengths, and signals currently present within your field.

Your energy is not static. It changes as you grow, heal, release, and remember more of who you are. The PlasmaRegenesi s BioEnergetic Assessment is designed to help you listen more deeply to your own field and begin approaching your healing and evolution with greater awareness, clarity, and inner trust.
