

SL: For Victoria's eyes only.

Hi Victoria,

I really admire your reasoning for using Instagram to reach more people as you mentioned in your pinned post. Your message about people having the power to create the financial life they want is truly unique and inspiring.

Upon looking at your link in your instagram bio, I noticed a missed opportunity to further enhance more relative content to elevate your role as a wealth builder and educator.

The newsletter you have is already a great source of communication. However, are you considering implementing more content? Different types of content have the ability to further enhance your output. Is this something that would be of interest to you?

I would love to hear your thoughts on these ideas. If this is in your best interests, shoot me a message and we could align our calendars to see what days we are both free.

Talk soon,
Kalum.