

Title: Southeastern's Honors Program (with audio description)

Transcript: Southeastern's Honors Program (with audio description)

Video Duration: 4:02

[00;00;00;00]

[dramatic piano music]

[The Southeastern Shield logo appears with the text: "Southeastern Louisiana University."]

[Drone shot of Southeastern campus.]

[00;00;08;12]

[Philip Le Riche]:

The benefits of joining the Honors Program is you are pushed to your peak ability.

[00;00;13;38]

[dramatic piano music]

[00;00;14;58]

[Text on screen: "Dive Deeper" with Madison in sign language class]

[00;00;19;18]

[Madison Harmon]:

We dive deeper into the things that we learn, and we're going to keep pushing ourselves.

[00;00;23;21]

[dramatic piano music]

[00;00;24;44]

[J.D. McKinney]:

The honors program has allowed me to challenge myself.

[00;00;27;24]

[dramatic piano music]

[Footage of Grace with Camera.]

[00;00;29;28]

[Grace Stalsby]:

Honors helped me feel more confident within myself.

[00;00;32;22]

[dramatic piano music]

[00;00;33;24]

[Carrington Wynn]:

Honor classes are harder than regular classes, and having that intensity is preparing me for the future.

[00;00;41;50]

[Text on screen: "Prepare for Your Future" with Carrington, with fellow students.]

[00;00;46;23]

[Carrington Wynn]:

And I appreciate that.

[00;00;47;34]

[dramatic piano music]

[The Southeastern Shield logo appears with the text: "College of Honors and Excellence".]

[00;00;53;07]

[Text on screen: "Claire Procopio, Ph.D., Interim Dean, College of Honors and Excellence."]

[00;00;59;36]

[Claire Procopio]:

An honors program is really important to any university

[00;01;01;49]

[Drone shot of Southeastern campus.]

[00;01;04;26]

[Claire Procopio]:

in that it helps students who come in and are really ready to get to work.

[00;01;07;28]

[Footage of student walking into building and then writing an equation on whiteboard.]

[00;01;11;48]

[Claire Procopio]:

And it gives them a more interdisciplinary, more rigorous academic experience. They really can go anywhere with their degree.

[00;01;17;32]

[dramatic piano music]

[Philip smiles to camera.]

[00;01;19;23]

[Philip Le Riche]:

My name is Philip Le Riche, and the degree I'm pursuing is interdisciplinary chemistry. There are a lot of opportunities to be a leader.

[00;01;26;58]

[Text on screen: "Become a Leader" with Philip with chemistry professor.]

[00;01;31;30]

[Philip Le Riche]:

And that can only be of benefit to you in the future.

[00;01;35;55]

[dramatic piano music]

[Madison smiles to camera.]

[00;01;38;20]

[Madison Harmon]:

My name is Madison Harmon. I am studying communication sciences and disorders.

[00;01;42;34]

[dramatic piano music]

[Footage of Madison in sign language class.]

[00;01;45;32]

[Madison Harmon]:

The challenges of the honors program make me a more independent person.

[00;01;49;53]

[dramatic piano music]

[Drone shot of Southeastern campus.]

[00;01;52;45]

[Claire Procopio]:

We bring in students from a lot of different backgrounds from all over the state, a lot of different majors,

[00;01;57;46]

[Footage of student walking into building and then studying.]

[00;02;00;57]

[Claire Procopio]:

and they get to take their classes with each other. So, they find other really committed, high-achieving students early on.

[00;02;07;11]

[Footage of a group of students talking.]

[00;02;09;05]

[dramatic piano music]

[Grace smiles to camera.]

[00;02;10;50]

[Grace Stalsby]:

My name is Grace Stalsby, and my degree is in mass communication with a focus on journalism and multimedia TV.

[00;02;17;54]

[dramatic piano music]

[00;02;18;48]

[Grace Stalsby]:

Honors has definitely helped me feel more confident in myself with becoming a leader.

[00;02;23;19]

[Text on screen: "Feel Confident" with Grace interviewing students.]

[00;02;27;29]

[Grace Stalsby]:

Once I graduate from Southeastern, I'll definitely be able to take that with me.

[00;02;30;56]

[dramatic piano music]

[Drone shot of Southeastern campus.]

[00;02;33;34]

[Claire Procopio]:

You will become better at articulating what you think, which is a useful life skill to have.

[00;02;37;53]

[Footage of honor student meeting.]

[00;02;39;58]

[Claire Procopio]:

You'll be less afraid to say what you think, which is a good life skill to have.

[00;02;43;35]

[dramatic piano music]

[Carrington smiles to camera.]

[00;02;45;33]

[Carrington Wynn]:

My name is Carrington Wynn, and I'll be pursuing a computer science degree, with a concentration in pre-MBA.

[00;02;51;20]

[Footage of Carrington typing on computer and talking with students.]

[00;02;55;00]

[Carrington Wynn]:

The honors program is preparing me for my future. The challenges and overcoming them now is going to help build confidence for me while I go out in the real world and face similar challenges.

[00;03;05;00]

[dramatic piano music]

[J.D. smiles to camera.]

[00;03;06;52]

[J.D. McKinney]:

My name is J.D. McKinney, and I am pursuing a degree in kinesiology with a concentration of fitness and human performance.

[00;03;12;53]

[dramatic piano music]

[Footage of honors student meeting.]

[00;03;14;40]

[J.D. McKinney]:

We are a diverse group that have different passions and ambitions and goals.

[00;03;09;08]

[Text on screen: "Explore Your Passions" with honors students talking.]

[00;03;23;31]

[Photos of honors students at The Big Event.]

[00;03;26;098]

[J.D. McKinney]:

Whenever we see honors students just solely focus on these goals and bring them to the community, we see change and we see difference and we see students truly making an impact.

[00;03;36;49]

[Photos of honor students smiling to camera.]

[00;03;39;39]

[Claire Procopio]:

There's some real opportunity to forge meaningful, lifelong connections as part of the Lion Pride. You're going to know us, and we're going to know you.

[00;03;46;28]

[dramatic piano music]

[00;03;47;44]

[Madison Harmon]:

I can picture it.

[00;03;48;48]

[J.D. McKinney]:

I can imagine it.

[00;03;50;08]

[Philip Le Riche]:

I can try it.

[00;03;51;28]

[Grace Stalsby]:

I can reach for it.

[00;03;52;42]

[Carrington Wynn]:

And I can get there.

[00;03;54;24]

[dramatic piano music]

[The Southeastern Shield logo appears with the text: "Southeastern Louisiana University".]