Dear [Mention the name of the recipient]

I learned from my last internship that being a marketing assistant involves more than just gathering and evaluating client data. With coffee and breakfast in hand, I spent my mornings putting together thorough competition evaluations using the information we had. I spend my afternoons hunting for further information to help with the analysis. Each deliverable came with the data the marketing team needed to create a better offering for their customers. Knowing that I was a part of the team that assisted the business in keeping [Mention the percentage] of its clients, I took joy in my work.

Due to my performance, I was offered [Mention the number] lucrative internships: one with [Mention the name of the company]. and one with a sponsor firm. I created opportunities to obtain practical experience by remotely and physically shadowing marketing teams during both of my internships. I gained expertise in writing pieces that were [Mention the name] optimized, and I contributed to the conceptualization of videos that I put on social media sites, earning praise.

I oversaw student teams for the annual regional digital marketing competition of [Mention the name of the company] from my sophomore to senior year, as you can see on my resume. This is partially attributable to my strong project management and communication abilities, which are essential for your ideal applicant.

I would adore the chance to go into more detail about my prospects for employment with [Mention the name] marketing. I'm interested in hearing from you. I appreciate your thoughts and time.

best regards
