Comments:

Both of my children have had good experiences at the school. I do feel like good behaviour is not rewarded enough. Teachers are very approachable and only have good things to say about my girls.

The best decision I made was sending my daughter to Rivacre Valley Nursery. Some of the questions do not apply to her being so young, but my friends children also attend and I know they feel the same. Rivacre has gone above and beyond this year, allowing my daughter to settle in, she was a completely different child in her previous nursery, very quiet and isolated along with crying on arrival. She is now extremely excited every morning and spends school holidays asking when she can go back! She's also excelling academically for her age and she's happy. Thank you to leadership for being as professional and CARING as you are. And a massive thank you to nursery for allowing my daughter to shine like the brightest star!

Lincoln loves school seems to be very happy.

Just small issue with images on tablets regarding safety, don't really get told how she is progressing unless it's a 10 minute video chat. We get told if she's been naughty but not so much when good, only negative feedback no positive, unless we ask. We've don't really know what she does in school or what if any topics she's doing (blood and stone when it comes to Jessica) saying that, I've looked on the website now as Jessica told me and was information there, which was nice. Is there no after school clubs? Again, she would really like to go but no aware of any. All in all, I love this school and all the teachers involved with Jessica. I sometimes find it difficult to manage one six year old so a room full must be mind blowing! She's happy, we're happy. Like I hope all parents feel, is to get the best out their children and supporting them to get them where they need to be.

Thank you so much for all that you are doing to help develop my daughter!

School reports lack in detail of child's educational progress and needs. My son is year 5 and the homework he receives in my opinion is far too little. He is not prepared for the amount of homework he will receive in high school at all.

I can't answer some as she's not been there long enough and I haven't had any real issues x

Would love a parents morning or be able to see my child's work. With covid restrictions being in place for so long it would be lovely to see my child's classroom and his work and displays.

Thank you for the above comments, we do truly value your feedback positive and negative.

In response to some of the above comments:

- ✓ We will be re-introducing celebration assemblies after May half term holiday, so good work and positive behaviour will be celebrated more frequently.
- ✓ Examples of work and what is being covered are available on the curriculum and class pages of the school website – please visit www.rivacreprimaryschool.co.uk to find out more. They are also uploaded regularly onto Earwig (KS1&2) and linked to our assessment framework – if you are unsure how to access this please ask your child's class teacher
- ✓ We have an event to Celebrate the Queens 70th Platinum Jubilee on 10th June – please come along, enjoy being part of our school and this day of celebrations – get your costumes ready!
- ✓ Towards the end of the summer term we will host a parent afternoon, where parents can come into school, visit their child's class and look through all of their books. Teachers will be available to talk to you when you visit. We hope to be able to offer a choice of face to face or remote parents meetings going forward.
