

Project 5, Spring 2020

Option 1: You are a TL in a real school and have a commitment from a teacher to create a learning experience together. You might also be a classroom teacher who will work with your librarian on a unit.

Name:

- Joseph Asbury - I will be working with my school's librarian on a research project for 9th graders
- ~~Jenny Seymour - I will be working with my school librarian~~
- ~~Bianca Cortes - I will be working with a 7th-grade teacher on some type of research project.~~
- LISA JOHNSON- I will be working with a 3rd grade teacher to create a unit of study.

Alternative 1: Create a Virtual Learning Commons to replace a school library website. To do this, you need to attend 3 one hour sessions and make progress each week on your project. This is a part of the Learning Revolution Conference and it happens April 20, 27, May 4 at 4pm pacific time. A novice in the class might assist in this project. Here are the instructions:

Register free for the Learning Revolution. Conference at:

<https://learningrevolution.com/registering>

Join our Google group for updates at:

<https://groups.google.com/forum/#!forum/school-wide-learning-commons>

Name, project for your school, would you like help from a member of this class?

- Allegra Diaz - Yes, I would like help from a member of this class.
- .Lauren Parnes working with Rosanna Moreno- I will be remodeling my Virtual Library (School Website) with a focus on student tools and training for a more participatory role. I have been working on students becoming more independent creators and this is an opportunity to put that into place.
- Kimberly A Jones - due to Covid Shut Down, this would be more usable in comparison with what we currently have, which is fragmented and outdated.
- Laura Freeman (with Bonnie Quinn) - I haven't tackled recreating the school library website since I started at my current position and this would be a great opportunity to turn it into something valuable. I would not mind help from a member of the class if anyone is interested.
- Floyd Lima - I will be working (solo/open to a classmate helping me) on a potential Virtual Learning Commons for my school. I will bring the librarians and principal in on the final presentation of the idea, and then they can take it to the web designer.
(<https://sites.google.com/sjsu.edu/holsingerlibrarylc/home>)

- Jocelyn Nicdao -Due to my experience as a parent trying to help my children who are at home learning online due to the covid-19 restriction, my project proposal would be for a virtual library commons that would not only be accessible to librarians, teachers and students but most especially for parents who need the resources to support their child. Parents would only need to turn to this site to connect and communicate with their teachers especially if they are using different platforms such as ClassDojo and Schoology. Also, this is the site where parents can reach out to the school librarian to assist with helpful resources to not only supplement what their child is learning but also support parents who are at home helping their child. Being at home as a parent during this pandemic made me realize the importance parents play a role in their child's learning. Therefore, it is pertinent that us parents get the needed resources and support to help our children in these stressful times.
- Ali Lauer - I will work on a VLC for my school.
- Jenny Seymour- I will work on VLC for my high school as we currently do not have one

Alternative 2: Propose a project to the professor. Figure out a capstone project that would do you some good; provide more experience; something you might use in a real job.

Name, project description

.

.