

SL: Xponential Help from a Business Doctor

Hey Maanik,

I wanted to give a thanks to the great tips you give on your YT channel. When people actually know something they genuinely act like it, and this reflects towards Xponential.

To give back my thanks, I tweaked parts of the site so more people are attracted to Xponential.

As a pre-med student who knows people doing med school, I can relate to the track and notice new places to improve. The web and med school are flooded with info, so standing above the rest only happens by reason.

As someone who has skill in growing businesses, the inner workings of making hustles happen are the key to brightening the viewers' thoughts towards you and Xponential.

Some of these 'inner workings' include site funnels, email sequences, turning words into gems (my favorite part), and others.

If you want to make Xponential exponential, reply your thoughts on making your medical knowledge stand above the rest.

Sincerely,
Imran Ahmad
