The Prompt:

This idea is not fully formed and subject to change, especially if you have ideas/requests, but the base idea is something like the plot of Dr. Horrible or Megamind, in a She-Ra or Nimona esque world, only the love interest is the superheroine instead of a third civilian character. To translate, I want a world that is just kinda bananas. A little bit of science fiction, a little bit of fantasy, no sense to speak of. For the plot, I want there to be some element of secret identity where our characters get close without realizing that they are one another's arch nemesis. Or maybe one of them realizes and the other one doesn't. MAJOR bonus points for the supervillain at one point capturing and having flirtatious banter with the superheroine.

The character I use is also negotiable. I have an OC built for this, but I am also open to creating a new one if she'll fit the story/pairing better. No matter what though, she's gonna be Extra.
