

One look at the Seeker tells you that Lamya cares about her appearance. Everything about her is put together and organised, especially her fashion. When the seasons begin to change and the weather starts to become colder, it's time to bring out the fall wardrobe - and this is a time that Lamya absolutely adores.

Her fashion sense falls within the category of 'goth' or 'retro' and, as such, Halloween is something she very much enjoys, as well as the season that it falls in. Capes are absolutely a staple within her wardrobe, and she fully believes that they should be brought back as standard fashion. Her typical choice in the fall months of the year is a thick, red velvet cape that she drapes about her shoulders. It's both highly functional (very warm and provides the freedom of movement that she requires) and incredibly fashionable, one of the few bright pieces of clothing in her wardrobe.

Business fall attire is an absolute must for a business owner like Lamya. A pair of high waisted black pants, creased along the leg, paired with black suspenders and a turtlenecked, yet short sleeved, tight fitting top. For finishing touches there is, of course, her beloved red velvet cape and matching heeled red ankle boots for a little pop of colour amongst the monochrome theme of her outfit as a whole.

When Lamya isn't busy with club work, in the fall she typically sports a black and grey striped knit scarf, wrapped cozily around her neck, and can usually be found in a dress of some sort - usually tea lengthed at this time of year for a little extra warmth. Black, of course, is typical, but greys are not unheard of amongst her fall wardrobe. Usually there will be a splash of colour somewhere - a red, usually, or a deep orange or yellow. A jewel on a necklace, perhaps, or a pair of gloves or her shoes. Jewel tones, of course, for it is fall.