

THE PILGRAMAGE OF UNYIELDING ASPIRATIONS -

RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATION in TERRESOL. At the seat of RIKOLTO in AKNO. Ruled by VISIONARY DEMETRI TROIARUS. Sworn to TINY VIK.

In the province of Akno you will find no temples for the Wisdoms, no statues of the Southern Pantheon, no sermons about the will of the gods; instead you will find the Pilgrimage. For a number of years the common folk have been told stories of a new god who goes by Tiny Vik, his visionaries emerged from the Regit Swampland in a wave, adorned with golden masks and purple robes, with gifts and stories for anyone who would listen. They spoke of eliminating the Bloodcaste, of blurring the lines between the classes, a world where anything was achievable through their own means. Little girls who dreamt of being a princess, fathers and mothers who grew tired of strenuous taxes, even those who had too much and wished for a simple life, this could be a new start, and the only price was patience. Now the city of Rikolto has been taken, the followers even calling it "Vikolto," for the new lord, a follower of the Pilgrimage sits on the seat of power, the guard is filled with Visionaries, and the time has come for the Religion to come into light.

Needed Canons:

- Norman D. Versillion - Visionary of Finance. Always thinking, good with numbers, "Hustler," mindset, his main concern is keeping the Rikolto coffers filled with gold, if a deal will not work out for his benefit he will not accept it. As with most Visionaries he is stubborn. Norman is a rare exception of an old city official accepting the new church rather than be forced out or replaced. His only concern has been finances and the new church only asked that he embrace his ambition, so naturally he wears his golden and ornate mask proudly.

Please DM Hobbit_Viking77#9978 for more information!