

Cursed to look like an abomination
Hating this terrifying face
I'm feeling so much trepidation
Body simply a lie to simulate a life
Sewn together with no hesitation
Molded from all the horrifying words
That you taught me, taught me to be...
All the electricity, heartbeat synchronicity...

I'm two breaths sewn to one
Never able to run, free will reduced to none
Two lungs to breathe from
Never able to flee all this panicking

Eve, the name was deemed catastrophe
Soliloquy between cadavers that don't bleed
My entropy was prolonged by year upon year
I am

Splitting at the seams
What good is a monster that can't even speak?
I've taken another part unto me, me
Dreams
Aren't even worth the time it'd take to seek, seek them,
So offer me another body if you'd please, please
Please, please, please.

I'm almost real but your imagination
Has turned me into a mechanation
A freak holding patchwork parts
There isn't even a heart, you tore that thing apart

(Ah)

I'm undead, growing to hate
Everything you would create, a pitiful state
Without a brain to make
Never able to fake any empathy

Eve, the name was deemed catastrophe
Soliloquy between cadavers that don't bleed
My entropy was prolonged by year upon year
I am

Splitting at the seams
What good is a monster that can't even speak?
I've taken another part unto me, me
Grieve
My forgotten mortality I had loved, loved so...
Create me another body if you please, please
Please, please, please.

La, la, la...

Seams
What good is a monster that can't even speak?
I've taken another part unto me, me
Dreams
Aren't even worth the time it'd take to seek, seek them,
So offer me another body if you'd please, please
Please, please, please.
