

HyperTracker Terms and Conditions and Privacy Policy

By installing accessing or using HyperTracker you acknowledge and agree to the following combined Terms and Conditions and Privacy Policy

HyperTracker is a third party analytics and notification tool that displays publicly available blockchain and market data from the Hyperliquid ecosystem

HyperTracker does not collect personal information does not require login does not store user accounts and does not process sensitive credentials such as private keys or seed phrases

GENERAL USE

- HyperTracker does not require registration login or account creation
- No name email phone number address or personal identifier is collected
- No private keys seed phrases API keys or authentication credentials are requested or stored
- All wallet data displayed originates from publicly accessible onchain sources
- You voluntarily choose which wallet addresses you wish to view search or monitor
- HyperTracker does not link a wallet to real world identity
- All usage of the app is at your own discretion and risk

PUBLIC DATA PROCESSING

- Wallet data balances transactions positions orders and market activity are sourced from public blockchain endpoints
- HyperTracker does not modify manipulate or influence blockchain data
- All analytics charts signals and calculations are based solely on publicly available information
- Data may experience delays inaccuracies or interruptions due to external providers which HyperTracker does not control

NOTIFICATIONS

- HyperTracker provides optional push notifications for wallet activity and token price alerts
- Notifications include buy sell order activity position changes liquidations and price thresholds
- Users may enable or disable notifications at any time through device settings
- Device identifiers are required only for push notifications and are not linked to identity or personal data
- Notification data is used exclusively to deliver alerts chosen by the user

DATA WE DO NOT COLLECT

- No personal identification information of any kind
- No login credentials or account passwords
- No financial information or payment methods
- No sensitive wallet information private keys or seed phrases
- No tracking of user identity or behavior outside the application
- No mapping of wallet ownership to individuals

DATA WE PROCESS

- Public wallet addresses voluntarily entered or searched by the user
- Public market data including token prices volume liquidity and order flow
- Device token for push notifications required by Apple or Google systems
- Local settings stored only on the user device including favorites alert preferences and UI settings

LOCAL DEVICE STORAGE

- Settings favorites tokens and preferences may be stored locally on your device
- This information never leaves the device unless the user enables system level backups

USER RESPONSIBILITIES

- You agree to enter correct wallet addresses and understand that all tracked data reflects public blockchain information
- You agree not to misuse disrupt or attempt to reverse engineer the application
- You are solely responsible for your own trading decisions actions and consequences

DISCLAIMER OF FINANCIAL ADVICE

- HyperTracker does not provide financial advice or investment recommendations
- All information charts alerts and analytics are informational only
- Cryptocurrency trading carries significant risk including market volatility liquidity issues and potential loss of funds
- HyperTracker is not responsible for losses or outcomes resulting from decisions made using the app

LIMITATION OF LIABILITY

- HyperTracker is provided on an as is and as available basis
- No guarantee is made regarding accuracy reliability uptime or completeness of data
- HyperTracker is not responsible for errors delays omissions or service interruptions
- HyperTracker is not liable for damages losses lost opportunities or indirect consequences arising from app usage

THIRD PARTY SERVICES

- External APIs may be used to retrieve blockchain and market data but no personal information is shared with these services
- HyperTracker does not transfer sell rent or monetize any user data
- All processing is limited to public blockchain data

CHILDREN AND RESTRICTED USERS

- HyperTracker is not intended for minors or individuals requiring regulated financial guidance
- Users are responsible for compliance with local laws and regulations related to cryptocurrency

MODIFICATIONS AND UPDATES

- Features terms or policies may change as the app evolves

- Continued use of HyperTracker indicates acceptance of updated terms

DATA DELETION

- HyperTracker does not store personal data and therefore has no personal information to delete
- Deleting the app will stop all local data processing and notifications immediately

CONTACT

For any questions concerns or requests regarding these Terms and Conditions or Privacy Policy you may contact us at

hello@hypertracker.app

If you do not agree with these terms or privacy practices you must discontinue the use of HyperTracker