COP26 is a crucial moment in the fight for climate justice. It has already been delayed for a year and the time for countries to implement ambitious climate action is long past. But many countries are still not making the changes needed to stop climate change and help those already suffering from its worst impacts. These world leaders are more concerned about protecting their own interests, and are failing to tackle the global climate crisis affecting the entire planet, and in particular the world's most vulnerable people.

We must tell our world leaders that they need to act with ambition, in solidarity with the most vulnerable people who are already facing the devastating impacts of climate change. We must demand that governments take urgent action to limit warming to 1.5C and protect our planet, by cutting emissions and investing in nature-based solutions, and significantly scaling up climate finance to the poorest and most vulnerable who are already experiencing the impacts of climate change.

As people of faith, we believe that every person matters to God and every person deserves to be protected from climate change. We need everyone to join us in calling for climate justice to achieve change. Jesus said “if you have faith the size of a mustard seed, you will say to this mountain, ‘Move from here to there,’ and it will move; and nothing will be impossible to you.” Together, we can persuade world leaders to put aside their differences and implement ambitious climate action. Sign the petition today and join us to demand Climate Justice for All.
