

Email #1

Subject: I may be an IDIOT - big time FOMO

Subject: I may have had an epic FAIL - big time FOMO

This is an email I thought I'd never write.

I still can't believe the story I'm about to tell.

But if it potentially saves one person financially, it will likely be worth every word.

Here's the deal.

If you want to try and make 2024 your most profitable year ever...

This email could be your key to the kingdom.

In 1801 Thomas Jefferson said:

"Opportunity seldom knocks more than once."

And in 2010 Mark Zuckerberg said:

"The biggest risk is not taking any risk. In a world that is changing really quickly, the only strategy that is guaranteed to fail is not taking risks."

These men couldn't be more different.

They lived 194 years apart.

Yet, they both "got it".

They both agree that doing nothing equals likely GUARANTEED failure.

When opportunity knocks...

You either are on the boat. Or you miss the boat.

And the sting of missing the boat probably never dies. It probably never leaves your heart.

So when I was told about the Bitcoin “halving” in 2020...

(the halving is a pre-programmed “splitting” of the supply of Bitcoin which more than likely will send demand and price of Bitcoin upwards)

I knew I had to get involved in some way.

But the world was grappling with the pandemic, and Bitcoin was hovering around $9,000, so I took a conservative position.

I bought just one Bitcoin. I made a relatively small investment of $9,000.

Then the “halving” happened. And today Bitcoin sits at $40,000, a more than 400% increase.

If only I had better understood how CERTAIN this bull run was...

...if only I had better understood what a halving actually means....I would have probably invested $90,000 and today I'd be sitting on $400,000.

That hurts.

I missed that boat. And I can never get it back.

Folks.

Halvings likely only come along once every 4 years.

And the next one likely happens around April 25th, 2024.

That means the bull run may start any day now.

If you are interested in the possibility of 10X-40X profits on your money, you should know that this halving may be bigger than the last one.

The video you're about to watch may show you.

Here it is.

If you click this link I think you will likely be very happy.

You're about to be introduced to Keystone Research Group.

I've been a member of this incredible and intimate coaching program for years.

And because of their guidance I think I know how much to invest this time to potentially maximize my profits and my security.

They have also shown me other opportunities similar to the halving that may be happening EVERY SINGLE MONTH.

You could potentially be making more money at Keystone than you make your job just by listening to their advice and taking action.

And they will hold your hand every step of the way.

No prior skills required.

If you're not making enough money...

Or you are but you want to make more...

Keystone is probably where I'd send my own children for guidance...

So I will recommend them to you.

Because times are about to get shifty...and Keystone is likely one of the fastest paths to financial independence during these times..

Clicking the link takes you down this rabbit hole which may end with you and a pot of gold.

<https://keystoneinvestor.com/optin-24>

To your well potential funded lifestyle,

NAME

P.S. 2024 is probably going to dish out a lot of hell for a lot of people. You probably need something like Keystone so you can potentially profit.

You likely need to zig when everyone is zagging.

Because you are a responsible adult who takes care of their family first.

<https://keystoneinvestor.com/optin-24>

See that link? Hit it and your world may potentially change.

Email #2

Subject: Potentially The Easiest $20X In History?

Subject: The Potential Gold Under Your Feet

Imagine living your whole life in the Arctic atop a mountain covered in ice.

You work 50 hours a week and make an honest living.

One day, for no real reason, you crack through the ice with a pick.

When you do, you see something shiny.

The color is deep, warm and yellow.

Could it be?

It is!

OMG.

It's gold!

There might even be some more.

So you keep digging.

And you begin to realize, the entire mountain you've been living under is pure gold!

If you had only known what was under your feet, you probably never would have had to work a day in your life.

How silly would you feel in that scenario?

Would you even be able to calculate the potential time you wasted?

I've got a video for you today that made me feel like that...

<https://keystoneinvestor.com/optin-24>

Hit the link to potentially be magically whisked away to potential financial paradise.

When I watched that video, I realized I was sitting on a mountain of potential gold most of my life...and no one thought to tell me it was there.

Either they likely didn't know. Or they likely didn't care.

I know...I know...

There's all kinds of scams on the internet where people telling you there's money "waiting for you".

They'll say it's in a secret government bank account redeemable with your birth certificate.

Or money is waiting for you in your Youtube partners program account, from "secret" views you never knew you got.

I don't recommend you get involved with any of these schemes.

They will likely only make the course owner money, But likely not you.

But Keystone Research Group is different.

They are legitimate.

They are a real company that has been operating since 2018 with success stories coming out almost every single month.

They will potentially help reveal money making opportunities right under your nose, that you may profit from, sometimes in days or weeks or months...

And you risk likely at most, very little..

You will realize the opportunities were always likely there, they just required glasses to see...glasses your parents and your teachers probably never gave you.

Keystone attempts to reveal more of this potentially “hidden money” every month with their newsletter.

Sign up now to potentially cash your first check:

<https://keystoneinvestor.com/optin-24>

But likely their BIGGEST reveal comes up this month.

It’s about the “halving” of Bitcoin.

This is the practically pre-programmed event that slices the future supply of Bitcoin in HALF...potentially driving up the price of the asset 10X to 40X.

Potentially, 100X on the very aggressive side.

Either way.

You probably don’t want to miss out on this opportunity!

However.

Please note.

Just buying Bitcoin will likely NOT give you access to the potentially biggest profits that will come from this event.

To understand where the 10X-40X profits could potentially come from....

You need to watch this video...

LINK

To your potential windfall profits,

YOUR NAME

P.S. Share this email with someone you care about as it could potentially change their lives forever.

Here's the link to your potential earnings!

LINK

Email #3

Subject: The Fed May "Print" Us To Death

Subject: My Favorite Hypothetical Federal Reserve "Conspiracy Theory"

I think my favorite hypothetical Federal Reserve “conspiracy theory” is that the Fed “prints money”.

According to this theory the Fed “prints cash” and “gives it” to private bankers, and give all the other Americans a bunch of debt in the form of home mortgages, credit cards, and student loans.

Is there any truth to all of this?

Well...probably yes and no.

The Fed doesn't actually print the dollars in your wallet.

That's done by the U.S. Treasury (Bureau of Engraving and Printing).

But they definitely DO inject capital into the economy and remove it from the economy whenever they desire to.

What do you think Quantitative Easing was?

They do this by buying and selling bonds to the private banks.

It's a nifty little trick which, by the way, probably leaves all sorts of doors open for corruption.

When they buy bonds from a private bank they “punch the money for it into a computer” and walla! new money is created!

When they want to stop inflation they do the opposite.

They'll SELL bonds to the banks and walla! money is destroyed!

And guess what?

When the private banks get that money, they loan it to us at interest in the form of mortgages, student loans and credit cards and more.

So, YES. They seemingly actually do give the banks a credit, and give us a debit.

And this may REALLY be the mechanism that is probably destroying the dollar and your savings account.

Here's the thing about the Fed.

They can probably be your enemy or your friend.

Because they likely tell you before they're going to make a move.

Weeks, sometimes months in advance.

And if you know how to interpret their moves, you likely know where the money will be flowing.

That's how you can potentially make a killing..

Learn how to potentially make some extra moolah in 2024 here:

LINK

I believe Keystone Research Group probably understands the Federal Reserve and the consequences of their actions as good as anyone.

You HAVE to see this video:

LINK

And people who join Keystone are seeing good things happen...potentially in their first few months of being a member...

Joining Keystone may change EVERYTHING for you.

If you're interested in potential 10X-40X profits on your money..potentially even this year, you will find that video interesting.

Go to it.

And start your journey to potentially true financial freedom.

YOUR NAME

P.S. This link may be the real stairway to financial heaven.

LINK