

Welcome sequence:

Email #1:

Subject Line: Welcome to the family!

Hey, Mark here.

Just wanted to take a quick second to welcome you into the family.

Here is what to expect over the next few days...

I'm going to be sending you super helpful emails covering things like:

- 1 - How to level up your dating game and become the best version of yourself
- 2 - I will be sharing tools and tricks about dating that you can use to attract a high-quality partner into your life.
- 3 - How to develop rock solid confidence and self esteem so you could be comfortable in relationships
- 4 - How to develop amazing bonds with people

And more...

This is going to be an absolute game changer for you.

You definitely want to stick around until the next email, because I'm going to share some great insights with you on how you can massively improve your dating life.

P.S But before we dive in, I have a quick favor to ask you.

What are your biggest challenges when it comes to dating?

What are your goals and dreams for your love life?

What are you looking for in a partner?

Reply back to this email and let me know your thoughts.

I can't wait to hear from you.

Much Love,
Mark

Email #2:

Subject Line: Why you can't let go of your ex and here's how to do it.

There is a person that you still think about when you're laying in your bed at 3 am.

You get hit with those memories of you both smiling and cuddling under the warm blanket while watching movies in the evening.

Seems like everything was covered in a golden haze of happiness and contentment.

But then suddenly you snap back to reality and realize that they are gone FOREVER...

There are two types of people...

The ones who drown their pain with alcohol, drugs, partying, and remain in the past,

And there are kings/queens who realize their self worth and embrace the fact that there's nothing they could do about it and move on with their life.

Of course, it's easier said than done.

As a matter of fact, I was in your situation a long time ago.

Heck, I still think about my girlfriend from grade 9 and remember listening to "End Of The Road" from Boyz II Men and being sad.

But I came to a conclusion that I just simply had to let go...

It wasn't easy, but it's better than doing nothing and crying over the person you will never get back.

So I'm going to share this video with you where I explain how to deal with breakups EFFICIENTLY,

Because I don't want you to be stuck in the past.

If you want to gain some valuable information that you can use in your dating life,

I highly recommend you watch this video now (Link to the video)

P.S Reply to this email after you watch the video and share your insights with me, I would love to hear it.

Much Love,
Mark

Email #3:

Subject Line: What actually makes a great partner.

I understand that the dating game is complex,

And it gets even more frustrating every day in these modern times...

How are you supposed to find a person with whom you want to build a meaningful relationship full of love,

When there's these "red pill" dudes on their podcasts telling you shouldn't care about women, and just sleep with as many as you can.

Those who do that end up being frustrated,

And now they're left alone,

Because they've adopted this "bad boy" mindset which ruins relationships with good women.

There are also women, who say that they want a man who could provide for them, but as soon as one shows up, they immediately turn them down.

These examples show you how much social media has washed our brain with these false narratives.

You forget what you ACTUALLY want in your partner.

You might be like: "Well, I know exactly what I want in a partner"

No you DON'T.

You say what you want, but what you choose is different from what you say.

So I came here to help you get what YOU want from a relationship,

None of this hook up nonsense or casual dating.

You're going to master the art of dating and find the person you ACTUALLY want.

Want to know how?

Here's a detailed step-by-step training that helps you pick a great partner and develops your skill in dating.

Click here to start mastering the art of dating (Link to the sales page)

Thanks for being here with me!

Much Love,
Mark