

Poems for discussion during Ron Welburn's Poetry Workshop
for Straw Dog Writers Guild
Saturday, May 21, 10:30 at the Northampton Center for the Arts

Agha Shahid Ali, "The Wolf's Postscript to 'Little Red Riding-Hood'."
<https://poets.org/poem/wolfs-postscript-little-red-riding-hood>

Gwendolyn Brooks, "The Preacher Ruminates Behind the Sermon."
<https://www.poetrynook.com/poem/preacher-ruminates-behind-sermon>

Emily Dickinson, "The Soul Selects Her Own Society."
<https://poets.org/poem/soul-selects-her-own-society-303>

Amanda Gorman, "The Hill We Climb."
<https://www.lamag.com/citythinkblog/read-amanda-gormans-inauguration-poem-the-hill-we-climb/>

Joy Harjo, "She Had Some Horses."
<https://www.poetryfoundation.org/poems/141852/she-had-some-horses-590104cf40742>.
Especially the lead poem.

Pablo Neruda, "The Dictators."
<https://www.poetryfoundation.org/poetrymagazine/browse?contentId=25873>

Sylvia Plath, "Mushrooms."
<https://allpoetry.com/poem/8498359-Mushrooms-by-Sylvia-Plath>

Wallace Stevens, "Disillusionment of Ten O'Clock."
<https://www.poetryfoundation.org/poems/43429/disillusionment-of-ten-oclock>

Yevgeny Yevtushenko, "Waiting."
<https://readalittlepoetry.wordpress.com/2006/04/27/waiting-by-yevgeny-yevtushenko/>