

Why were shoes needed in the afterlife?

So the ancient Egyptians took all kinds of things into their tombs, even their shoes. So these are a set of model sandals; they're made of wood, so they wouldn't be very comfortable for a living person to wear. But the Egyptians believed by magic, by including these wooden models, they would work in the afterlife, someone could wear them after death.