

UW School of Medicine and Public Health Committee to Support Maternal and Infant Health

The University of Wisconsin School of Medicine and Public Health (UW SMPH) is committed to improving health and advancing health equity in Wisconsin and continues to be deeply invested in supporting initiatives to address Wisconsin's significant disparities in maternal and infant health outcomes. UW SMPH has received resources to lead a new competitive grant program funded by the U.S. American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 (ARPA) from the Wisconsin Department of Health Services to advance maternal and infant health equity, particularly focusing on efforts that lessen the COVID-19 pandemic impacts. The SMPH Committee to Support Maternal and Infant Health whose members have deep expertise and a diversity of experience in maternal and infant health in Wisconsin is charged with facilitating a competitive grant program that advances maternal and infant health equity in alignment with the approved initiative's scope of work.

The Committee will meet on Wednesday, April 12, 2023.
