

Hello Laura,

Take a look at this FB ad below made to get more traffic into your mixed media course.

Kristy Patridge Art, A famous art YouTuber also used this strategy to sell her online course.

The page will remind your readers of their past struggles with painting,

Then it will offer an instant solution for them to take to solve that intense pain.

Making them buy your course.

I admit every single person who reads it won't buy minimal magic...

But it will definitely boost your sales in comparison to your current FB ads. About 15-20% more.

I made it because businesses like yours genuinely establish a connection with your fans.

And I would prefer to help honest businesses sell even more so everyone wins. Including me 😊

If you do like my writing,

Will you be free to discuss how these kinds of Ads will help attract more attention to your online courses?

Have a great day,
Ryan Ho.

Hello Miro,

Take a look at the page below made to persuade the reader to your watercolor flowers course.

Makoccino, a famous watercolor youtuber also uses this strategy to sell her online course.

The page will create so much curiosity in your customer's heads,

They would go crazy if they didn't buy your course.

Before you think "bullshit", I admit every single person who reads it won't buy the course...

But it will definitely boost your sales in comparison to what you have on your website right now. A boost by 50% maybe?

I made it because businesses like yours are giving a platform for these artists to teach and earn.

That is something that is really clever to earn for both YOU and them.

But I want to help you sell even more so everyone wins. Including me 😊

If you do like my writing,

Will you be free to discuss how these kinds of sales pages will help scale your business?

Have a great day,

Ryan Ho.