- * Apprentice: TBA

* Physicality

- * Scent: Autumn air, citrus zest, and sparkling water.
- * Skills: Jumping, dodging, and thinking clearly in times of crisis.
- * Personality: Bayleaf is a cat that likes to keep to himself. He would rather sit far from others and simply study them. He makes mental notes of the skills of others and uses those notes to help him be a better warrior for Skyclan. Bay tends to get nervous around others and self-sabotages his chances to gain friends. He may be very timid around others, but he never fails to help those in need. Bay may have the issue of a hero complex, but he truly means well. He has no issues in jumping in front of danger to protect others. He is incredibly smart and can think clearly in the worst of times. Bayleaf can have amazing ideas, but can have a hard time communicating his thoughts. He stutters on his words quite often when he isn't mumbling to himself. Bay can work great on a team with more confidence, but can have the tendency to stray from the original goal when something seems wrong.
- * Appearance: Bayleaf is a lean male cat. His coat is a solid dusty gray. His eyes are a gorgeous lemon-grass green and gleam with his emotions. His front legs are coated in different variants of scars. Many of these scars come from him protecting those who cannot protect themselves. He is not ashamed of his scars, but does not openly flaunt them with pride.

* Backstory

* Bayleaf was an odd one as a kit. He liked to observe rather than play with the other kits. He tried his best to stay out of others' way, but trouble seemed to follow him like a plague. Bay was bullied quite a bit when he was younger. Because of this, he didn't have many friends growing up and he never realized this was a problem. Bayleaf didn't try to push himself outside his bubble and began to find comfort with himself. Of course, he was close with his mother. His mother could see he struggled socially, but didn't want it to drag him down. It wasn't until he became an apprentice and had a mentor that pushed him outside of his bubble did Bayleaf become what he is today. He was taught it was important to help whoever needed help. Bayleaf found he enjoyed being useful to his clanmates and became determined to be helpful to Skyclan.
