

[Chat Transcript] Session 1: Introductions

15:09:26 From Leigh KP : The Rebus forum we just mentioned can be found at www.rebus.community

15:23:21 From Leigh KP : Yas!

15:29:45 From Leigh KP : there are 3 Ss!

15:29:52 From Leigh KP : S cubed

15:50:29 From Leigh KP : We have an inside joke at Rebus that Apurva is an encyclopedia of every project we've ever worked with. She draws great connections

15:56:32 From Leigh KP : Syllabus: <https://www.rebus.community/t/textbook-success-program-syllabus-may-2020-cohort/3507>

16:01:38 From Leigh KP : www.rebus.community

16:02:12 From Leigh KP : <https://www.rebus.community/c/textbook-success-program/may-2020-cohort/387>

16:10:18 From Leigh KP : Eg of personal sharing: I have two kids under six running around me

16:14:18 From Leigh KP : to direct message Apurva, type Apurva. to direct message me, type leighkp

16:26:00 From Jonathan Poritz : It's a power of working in the open, but it's also a bit scary! It's like letting your dinner guests watch you cook....

16:26:41 From Leigh KP : The kitchen is where the best conversations happen

16:28:11 From Leigh KP : Joking aside though, if you wanted to take a more blended approach to working in public, that's fine too. I'm always happy to discuss different modes of doing that, and we've seen lots of innovative ways that participants have worked in public when they're ready, while doing some rough or brainstorming work in more private ways

16:33:27 From Denise Henry : What happens when we follow a project?

16:35:08 From Denise Henry : Thank you - I followed the Open Pedagogy project

16:35:36 From Leigh KP : Nice! They're awesome and have lots of terrific ways to participate

16:36:54 From Denise Henry : I want to be sure that I don't miss the finalized text

16:40:24 From Apurva Ashok : Last year!

16:40:48 From Apurva Ashok : Here's the book that Geri was involved in: <https://press.rebus.community/introductiontocommunitypsychology/>

16:42:39 From Leigh KP : My second monitor is the thing I miss most about the Rebus office

16:43:21 From Lona Oerther : My husband built himself a new desk so I could have his big one and set me up with dual monitors for work from home. Love it.

16:43:38 From Leigh KP : Amazing!

16:45:13 From Denise Henry : Are finished OERs maintained on this page or do they move on to other hosting platforms?

16:47:24 From Leigh KP : Many of our participants host their OER on Pressbooks. We highly recommend this, not just because we share a founder, but also because it's a very good platform developed with OER in mind. Your institution may already have Pressbooks access. If it does not, let us know and there may be a way that we can help you out. I should also say, that we do not require anyone use Pressbooks.

16:48:57 From Denise Henry : Thank you! Dr. Poritz set us up with Pressbooks
