

Yume: Hero Analysis For You (Guide)

By Kikyo_iru

Disclaimer!

- I do not claim BNHA or any of the characters as my own. Please do not however steal this work (the guide at the top and the fanfic itself) and claim it as your own.
- I am not a pro at HTML or anything, everything I use is either basic or just me doing something that works for what I want despite it being used wrong
- You can copy the HTML guide for tweets and stuff if you want
- Some of the HTML from the chapters have errors which I fixed directly in AO3, so the one in this file might still have said errors

Small guide to HTML (from what I know of it/what I use it for)

`` - paragraph

Used at the start and end of any paragraph

`Hitoshi sighed as he took another sip of the bottled water, cringing at the metallic taste that burned his tongue.`

Hitoshi sighed as he took another sip of the bottled water, cringing at the metallic taste that burned his tongue.

`` - bold

Makes the surrounded word(s) bold

`Oh hell no.`

Oh hell no.

`` or `` - italic

Makes the surrounding word(s) italic

`Oh hell no`

Oh hell no.

 - break(?)

Breaks the line up (and in Ao3, makes it so there aren't any awkward gaps in between lines)

This sucks
I wanna sleep

This sucks
I wanna sleep

<hr> - hard rule

Makes the line thing(?)

He's fine

<hr>

He's not fine.

He's fine.

He's not fine.

<blockquote> - blockquote

Makes the vertical line on the left side of text

<blockquote>

Copy paste the above. Right before the final `</blockquote>`, copy paste it again. Make sure at the end there are the same amount of `</blockquote>` as there are replies (for that thread). Blockquotes are bolded and colour coded so you can see which one is for which.

Yume: Hero Analysis for <strike>The Future</strike> You</center>

"Uh.. Is this thing working I can't tell..."

The black screen lights to a blurry screen before focusing on a boy fiddling with the camera. The camera keeps changing its focus, eventually landing on his shirt that says 'pants' is in clear view, along with the boy's green hair.

"Oh- the light is blinking ok."

The boy leans back, sitting on the chair.

"Entry 1# for Hero Analysis! My name is Yume, and welcome to Analysis of Pro Hero Present Mic! This is my first ever video, so any feedback is appreciated. Now, onto the disclaimer!"

The screen switched to a black background with text, a voice over of Yume saying "Disclaimer: These videos are not in anyway affiliated with any of the people mentioned. This is just a fan video made for fun, and is not intended in anyway to be discriminatory, offensive, or hurt anyone. If you are a person or a representative of a person that I have analyzed, please contact me if you wish to take the video down, please do not strike me :("

The message slowly fades back into the main camera view of Yume. "Let's get started shall we? Pro Hero Present Mic is ranked 18 in Japan! His quirk is Voice, he's able to..."

...and then he'd be able to keep damage to a minimum! That's all for this video! Bye!"

Midoriya Izuku shut off the camera, a relieved sigh on his lips. It was nerve wracking, finally committing to this side project he'd been thinking about. Ever since mom had gifted him the camera two years ago, Izuku had been dying to try out this HeroTube thing.

Izuku knew why mom had gifted him that, if Izuku found a new hobby then maybe he would give up on being a hero and stay safe.

Izuku looked down at his hero notebook. Maybe he should give up- no. Not until he's sure. Not until he's sure this HeroTube thing is going to stick with him and not some week-long obsession before he moves onto the next thing.

Izuku powered up his editing software, it was a paid one, he's had it for years, since it came free with another software he downloaded. He's never used it though. Time to search for tutorials.

The first ever video of Yume: Hero Analysis for You was posted later that night. Izuku admits that it wasn't the best, the editing consisted of some basic cuts, zoom-ins and basic pictures here and there mixed in. He added clips of Present Mic in the appropriate places, some videos of how said hero used his quirk and such.

All in all, it was basic, but Izuku was proud. It was his first ever video.

Hero Analysis 1#: Present Mic | Yume: Hero Analysis for You

For my first ever video I'm going to be talking about Pro Hero Present Mic...

Izuku sighed. Realistically, he knew he wouldn't get that many views on his first video, but that didn't mean it hurt less. But this was Izuku, he wasn't one to give up that easily. Izuku cracked his knuckles, wanting to quickly finish today's assignment and hand them in so he could work on his next video.

Izuku went to an online school, although it only started this year. Sometimes he'd miss real schools, miss the atmosphere, miss how it felt to wake up early, shower, wear a uniform and head off. And then he'd remember the glances, the threats, the pushing, the sneers and the spider lilies on his table and he'd be thankful. Not that he was thankful his mother died, forcing him out of Aldera, but...small mercies, yeah?

4 hours passed before Izuku finished all of his assignments for that day. He stretched out, relieving the tension in his body.

What video should I do next? Maybe a video on Selkie? Hmm...

Hitoshi was bored. Which, in all honesty, is normal for him.

Dad and Pops weren't home yet, and Hitoshi swore he's watched all the cat videos at least 50 times today. So yeah, he was bored.

Scrolling through HeroTube for more cat videos that he hasn't seen yet, Hitoshi stumbled upon a video.

"Buried Underground 3#: Red Eyes | Yume: Hero Analysis for You"

The video was by a small channel named Yume, with a total of 4830 subscribers. They posted videos weekly, and had a few ongoing series. The main one, Hitoshi noticed, was called 'Hero Analysis' and had 13 videos, the earliest one being 5 months ago. There were also other series, namely 'Hero Highlight', 'Back in Time' and 'Buried Underground'. The last of which Hitoshi was interested in.

The video started with a basic intro of a name and a background song, which made Hitoshi scoff. The screen changes to show a boy, green hair with an undercut. The boy smiled at the camera.

"Entry number 3 for Buried Underground! My name is Yume, and welcome to my analysis of Red Eyes. For any new viewers, Buried Underground is a series where I analyze underground heroes, although due to their nature of work, I won't be revealing any specifics of their quirks or their real hero names. Onto the disclaimer!"

Hitoshi watched as the boy explained a hero who was normally seen in black, with a very interesting scarf. Hitoshi knew that hero, he sees the man everyday at home. How did this random kid know so much about Eraserhead?

It was obvious he researched everything thoroughly, the way he presents Eraserhead was sure. His wording never revealed any important information about Eraserhead that might put him at a disadvantage, but he did leave an interesting perspective of the erasure hero, discussing his fighting style and even giving suggestions. It was very entertaining, despite Hitoshi already knowing a lot about said hero already.

Hitoshi only had one problem, the editing was appalling. Sure this Yume dude could've done better? Hitoshi could do better for a school presentation.

Hitoshi tunes back into the video, already near the end. Yume does his outro, but then he mentions a small "Oh! And if any of you guys want a private analysis, you can message me! I'm in need for more practice, that's all, bye!"

Oh? A chance for Hitoshi to be a little shit? How could he pass this?

Hitoshi went into the description, finding a link to the boy's blog.

Hitoshi wasn't going to ask about his own quirk, he already got enough shit for that normally, he didn't want shit for it online too. How does one approach a random stranger?

Maybe Hitoshi should go the Hitoshi way.

hey
your editing sucks

[Yume]
Oh- uhm
Sorry...?

[coffecat]
i cant tell if ur serious or not

[Yume]
ueuhffh I'm sorry you don't like how I edit :(((
I don't really know how to properly edit so...

[coffecat]

i can do it

you suck

[Yume]

You can??? Like really??

I can't pay you anything tho,,

[coffecat]

dont have to pay

i cant stand the shitty editing

[Yume]

Are you sure??

Like serious????

Wait- you're not like-a pedophile right?

My mom says not to talk to people like you

maybe just very short

[Yume]

HEY

I am a growing boy >:(

[coffecat]

sure u are...

Ah, Hitoshi stopped typing. He just wanted to be a nuisance to pass the time. Now he's made a commitment. Damn you, social anxiety. And he hasn't even asked about his quirk... what an odd fellow.

[Yume]

You ok?

Did I scare you away >;)))

please come back i need friends

[coffecat]

sorry

i was brooding

is it really a good idea for you to let me edit your videos?

im a total stranger

[Yume]

Probably not! But if it means I have more time to make more videos then I'll take it!!

[coffecat]

youre really trusting huh

shinsou hitoshi

<center>

Shinsou Hitoshi added a new contact! Hello Midoriya Izuku!</center>

<hr />

"Hey dad."

The erasure hero turned towards his son. "Yeah?"

"I found a video on you?"

Shouta furrowed his brows, "There shouldn't be any videos about me."

Hitoshi shrugged, bringing his phone to the hero.

"He's chill, he didn't reveal your quirk or your hero name. Apparently I'm his editor now."

Shouta gave a questioning eyebrow raise at the last statement, to which the boy shrugged again. "Just watch it. You can take it down if you want, his email is there. I don't know how you're going to prove it's you though."

Shouta sighed, putting down the red pen from marking his students' papers.

Hitoshi put his phone down, walking over to the fridge to get something to eat, Prince, the cat, meowing at his feet.

Shouta pressed play.

As the video finished, Shouta began drafting an email.

Hmm.. maybe winking would work. I have to try it another time.

<hr />

Izuku didn't expect to wake up to an email. Much less an email from Eraserhead.

At least, from a person claiming to be Eraserhead. If it was him though, it made sense. There was a reason Eraserhead videos were hard to find, the hero probably has some sort of scanner to remove videos about him.

Ah, Izuku sighed, I guess I have to delete that video. A month's work gone.

Izuku clicked the email, running a program in the background to verify the email. Meanwhile, Izuku read it.

Yume,

This is Eraserhead, or Red Eyes, from your video. I'm not sure how you'd like me to confirm my identity, so I attached an image of my hero license. I trust you not to share this on the internet, I have connections.

If you would, please delete the video. I can't have anything about me being out there.

Good job on the video though, everything was logical and intriguing. I'll be sure to keep watching.
Eraserhead.

Izuku read it, then read it again, and a third time before he fully processed the email because ,what the fuck. Eraserhead -yes, the real Eraserhead, the program he made tracked the email to be from UA, and the hero license was authentic from what Izuku could make out- liked his analysis, even wanting more? Izuku must be dreaming.

He must be dreaming...right?

Oh wow. Now he has an editor (and friend, maybe?) and a hero noticing him??

Izuku smiled, maybe life was looking up anyway.

<hr />

Izuku felt... gross, sticky, mad, sad, empty and every other emotion his brain could think of right now. The sludge stuck to his clothes, groceries abandoned in that tunnel and notebook damp.

"Pro heroes are always having to risk their lives. Some villains just can't be beaten without powers. So, can you be a hero? Not without a Quirk."

Izuku cursed, slowly opening the door.

"It's not bad to have a dream, young man. Just, make sure your dreams are attainable."

His bag felt heavier, ironic, since he lost some stuff when he threw it at that villain to save Kacchan.

"Realistic."

Realistic my ass.

Izuku wonders if Kacchan is ok now. The feeling of anger rose again, this time, with an added touch of disappointment.

Those heroes. They didn't do anything. Didn't help Kacchan. But they were heroes? Why didn't they help? Why?

"None of us have the right quirks to stop a villain like this!" Deatharms had said.

Quirks. It all boiled down to quirks. Izuku felt his finger twitching to record a video.

So he did.<hr />

The video started blank, as it usually does. The bunny intro that appeared a month ago (along with an editor) wasn't there this time. The video had a rough feeling to it, uncut, unpolished. Yume stared at the camera, his expression was...sad. He was sad, but most of all he was disappointed.

He's in a t-shirt saying 'socks'. The boy's smile seemed forced.

His background was different from usual. Something was off... it was bland, empty, live-less, but the door, the walls, the bed, those were the same-

-oh. All the All Might merch was gone.

"Hi, it's Yume. Usually I'm more upbeat during my videos, but honestly..." His smile fades, a grimace in place of it, "I don't think I have the energy nor any fks right now. Let's talk about the Sludge Villain Incident."

"You've probably seen the Sludge Incident earlier this evening. It was all over the news. Um, usually I'd gush about how the heroes saved the day, even All Might was there! But... did they? Did the heroes really save the day? The victim-" Yume's voice wavered at the word 'victim', but he continued on. "-was a young boy. He's still in middle school you know? I knew him. Maybe.. maybe that's why it hurt more. I won't be sharing his name or face, despite it being all over the media."

Yume's face grew serious.

"His face, his name, shouldn't be all over the internet. He's a minor, there are rules that state his face and name couldn't be spread. Yes, I know it was broadcast live, so his face would inevitably be all over the internet. But I also saw pictures of him that weren't from the attack, his name, which definitely was not general knowledge that could be shared so lax, was going viral on Twitter."

Yume sighed, running a hand through his hair. You could hear the exhaustion in his voice.

"You saw the other boy, no? The one who ran in? That was me, so I guess if that went everywhere it's my fault and whatever, I was dumb. But y'know what?"

The video zoomed in a bit, "Before I ran in, before I decided to do something to let said victim breathe, y'know what I said to the heroes? All the other heroes there, sans All Might because he wasn't there yet, heard me. I know this because they replied. I said, no, yelled, 'Go for the eyes! His eyes are solid, please, you have to help [redacted]! He can't breathe, please.' And what did the heroes reply? 'Leave it to the heroes, kid' or 'We're waiting for more heroes, stay calm' and most insultingly, 'We don't have the right quirks'. Quirks."

Yume's breaths were heavy, "You didn't have the right quirks? I didn't 'have the right quirk' but I managed to let [redacted] breathe. I aimed for the eye with a book. I get it, some quirks have really bad match ups. Yes, Kamui Woods is weak to fire. But you know what isn't weak to fire? Water, Backdraft's quirk. Why did you decide to put out the fire of an empty building, when the reason the fire was there, [redacted]'s quirk, was still going crazy? Mount Lady, I get that you just debuted the very same day, but staying giant and helpless instead of, I don't know, maybe keeping the civilians away? Remember, I, a teenage boy, managed to run past most of you heroes."

Yume sounded like he was about to cry, or laugh, or maybe both.

"Which is why, I'm going to list all the ways I have already made in which the heroes already present before All Might appeared could've saved the victim", Yume smiled, but it didn't meet his eyes, "Let's get started shall we?"<hr />

<h1>Chapter 1</h1>

</center><center>

QnA! Thanks for 100k+(?)</center>

Izuku whined, shuffling in his bed. His back felt sore and his pillow was oddly damp. Izuku sat up, yawning. Ah, his hair was still wet when he went to sleep. Izuku checked the clock alarm beside his desk. 5am. Not that early for him, so Izuku shrugged it off.

The phone kept vibrating as Izuku did his daily stretches. Maybe it was the landlord? Mr. Nakamura had always been pretty nice to him. Or maybe it was Hitoshi? He had a habit of spamming Izuku with cat videos and photos when the editor couldn't sleep at night.

After satisfied with his stretches, Izuku continued with his normal routine. A washing his face, making a small breakfast of eggs and brushing his teeth.

Izuku reentered his room, grabbing his phone to- 500+ notifications.

What?

Izuku read over it again and again, rubbing his eyes and pinching himself. What happened while he was asleep?<hr />

Imao people are dumb

<blockquote>

[Screenshot of a comment, presumably under Izuku's viral video. It read "why person hate heroes so much like hes just jelouse"]</blockquote>

i live for bad spelling unironically do u think best jeanist has a mouth?

...i think i need sleep<hr />

Izuku's heart stopped. What? Viral? Nononono, Shinsou was messing with him. Right?

Izuku quickly exited the messaging app, ignoring that small tinge in his brain to not leave someone on read, and instead opened his twitter.

It was chaos.

He was tagged in multiple posts, for some reason he had around 57k followers-? What.

There were so many people supporting him it was... overwhelming. How was he supposed to react to that? He expected hate from that video, he expected to wake up and see it privated by Shinsou. Tears sprung as he kept reading the replies to his video. When the replies started blurring together (not only from the tears), Izuku went to his channel.

68M views. That's how much he got. He had around 240k subscribers. What is this madness?<hr />

The reporters outside were noisy, constant thumps and clicks and shouts echo throughout the house. The old hag and old man are outside, trying to calm the crowd. Katsuki didn't know how they found his address, hell he doesn't want to know. Probably better he doesn't. Plus, why the fuck are they even here at 9pm?

The blonde scrolls through youtube, ignoring the incessant messages from those extras at middle school. School was boring.

By the tenth video commentating on the villain incident earlier Katsuki was ready to smash his phone and puke. His messages were going crazier than before, but it was past 8 and he'd rather not have any social interaction pass a certain point.

Katsuki was about to give up on finding a distraction when he saw another video. It was on trending, the 13th one. It looked the same as the other more viewed videos about the Sludge Villain Incident, only... it was Deku.

What the fuck? That can't be stupid Deku. Did someone find out that he <strike>saved me and</strike> was the kid who jumped in?

That wasn't it.

That was nowhere near what the video was about. Deku was... stronger. He looked stronger, and Katsuki knows it wasn't a physical thing, when he <strike>yelled at</strike> talked to Deku, he looked as scrawny as he did when he ran out in the middle of class after that phone call, rushing to the hospital.

What the fuck? What does Deku think he is?! Making a video showing how weak Katsuki was, if he ever sees that fucking bastard again he'd beat that out of him. Yeah. Fuck you, Deku.

("Achoo! Achoo!" Izuku rubbed his nose, groaning. Even when I don't do anything people are talking bad about me", he sighed.)<hr />

by coffecat | English translation by coffecat

[The video opens with the usual intro, a green bunny hopping onto the screen, promptly falling asleep as its dream cloud floats up, the word "Yume" appearing onto the screen. The intro cuts to a nervous looking boy on what looks to be a couch, behind him posters of some heroes.]

Yume: U-uhm, h-hello... Yume here. Uh-

[Yume fidgets with his fingers]

Yume: T-there are lots of you that are new cause of uh- that video... Oh- thank you for over 200k subscribers! So uh- I decided to do a QnA to celebrate! I tweeted out uhm-

Yume: (mutters) I can't believe people actually replied so-

Yume: I will answer them and joining me is my editor...

[A drumroll sound effect appears. Yume smiles and does jazz hands at the camera]

Yume: ...Editor-kun!

Editor-kun: That literally doesn't change anything.

[The voice comes from Yume's phone]

Yume: Hehe... Thanks for joining me Editor-kun!

Editor-kun: Are you going to call me that every time?

Yume: Yup! Let's go onto the first question!

Editor-kun: I still don't get why I'm here-

[The video beeps, cutting to Yume holding a plush doll of Crimson Riot.]

Editor-kun: Hums First question: Is Yume your real name? From @catsbecurious

Yume: Nope!

[Awkward silence]

Editor-kun: ...that's it?

Yume: Yup!

[Editor-kun huffs, amused while Yume winks at the camera]

Editor: Ok, next question, milk before cereal or cereal before milk?

Yume: Milk before cereal, duh!

Editor-kun: dramatic gasp How. Dare. You. It's cereal before milk. That's it, I'm not going to edit your videos anymore.

Yume: Wait no please-- I beg for your mercy!

Editor-kun: Perish.

[Yume puts a hand to his chest, gripping his 'tank-top' t-shirt]

Yume: I am die.

Editor-kun: That beep dead. Welp, guess I finally have time to edit Loud Claw's documentary video-

Yume: I am alive.

Editor-kun: Too bad.

Yume: I know right.

Editor-kun: Wait what-

[Video beep again, cutting to Yume now with another apple]

Editor-kun: Yume-san, why are you so cute from @monke. Uhh- actually this boy ain't that-

Yume: Hey! I am cute! W-wait- no I'm not I mean- ahhhh!

Editor-kun: Self deprecation avoided. Next question, from @nothawks- wait, isn't that actually Hawks though?

Yume: I thought that was fake though?

Editor-kun: Hums Probably. @nothawks asks, who's your favourite hero, and then in brackets, does their name start with 'h' and end with 'awks'?

Yume: It's All-

[Yume's face freezes, his smile slowly fading off. There was a short silence]

Editor-kun: Yume?

Yume: Oh! Yea, sorry... My favourite hero is an underground one so I can't tell you guys, sorry.

Editor-kun: Same.

Yume: Wait, really? You've never mentioned that?

Editor-kun: Yeah, it's how I found your channel.

Yume: WHAT. Wait wait wait who-

[The video beeps again, this time cutting to Yume on his bed, now in a dark green sweater]

Yume: Sorry guys, I had stuff to do so we're on my bed now! We have uh- how many questions left?

Editor-kun: Like, four more.

Yume: Alright, hit me!

Editor-kun: Oh here's an obvious one. How old are you?

Yume: I am...

[The camera zooms into Yume's face, his expression stern]

Yume: ...immortal.

Editor-kun: I thought you died earlier in the video?

Yume: Ah, but you see I'm still here so I am immortal.

Editor-kun: Holy beep you right-

[Another cut, Yume was now laying upside-down, legs up against the wall and head hanging off the bed]

Yume: And that's why I think that Best Jeanist does have a mouth.

Editor-kun: Nah nah, he doesn't have a mouth that's why he covers his face.

Yume: Groans Ugh, whatever. We got off topic...

Editor-kun: Hah it's gon suck if I cut off this conversation. Sucks to sucks viewers.

Yume: You wouldn't.

Editor-kun: I would.

[Yume sighs, shifting his head back onto the bed]

Editor-kun: Ok ok, from @themoist, how were you brave enough to jump into the Sludge Villain Incident?

Yume: A-ah, well I wasn't really thinking. Nor was I brave o-or anything... I was basically just acting on impulse. I didn't really uhm.. care if I got hurt that day, it was... a tough day, so...

[Yume closes his eyes, taking a breath. Editor-kun pauses for a short while.]

Editor-kun: Yeah, Yume's a dumb beep

Yume: gasps What the beep did you just beep-ing say about me, you little beep? I'll have you know I graduated top of my class in the Navy Seals, and I've been involved in numerous secret--

Editor-kun: S t o p.

Yume: Aww...

[Yume pouts, hugging an Mirko bunny plush]

Editor-kun: Ok, the penultimate question. Is the victim of the Sludge Villain ok now? None of the news could interview him after the incident, from @marsonearth. Wait, can you talk about that?

Yume: Uhh I'm not sure if I can, but even if I could I don't know myself...

[Yume plays with his curly hair, trailing off]

Yume: ...well we don't talk to each other anymore so. Before the incident I haven't seen him since earlier last year.

[Editor-kun hums]

Editor-kun: Alright, final question.

[The camera zooms to Yume's nervous face, a drumroll on the background]

Editor-kun: How's life?

Yume: ...that's it?

Editor-kun: Yes.

Yume: Uh well life's good uh I think-? Yesterday I-

["Three days later..."]

Yume: And uh yeah, that's why I am now allergic to prepubescent boys.

Editor-kun: Aren't you a prepubescent boy?

[The camera stares into Yume's eyes

Yume: Yes.

[The video cuts out, a short outro playing]<hr />

Chapter 2

<center><h1>Chapter 2</h1></center>

<center>Turbo Hero: Ingenium</center>

Tenya was scrolling through his phone during his 30 minute break from studying. Tensei was out on patrol, and his parents were having some kind of meeting with another agency.

Tenya knew it was something to do with that viral video, it was all over the news, made by some HeroTuber named Yume. Tenya hasn't actually watched the whole video, as the news couldn't play the whole thing (without permission and/or paying rights).

Deciding to go onto HeroTube (which he doesn't do much), Tenya searched up the name, and obviously the viral video appeared at the top. Right under that though, was a title that caught his eye.

Hero Highlight 3#: Ingenium | Yume: Hero Analysis for The Future

It was the most recent video from said HeroTuber, and considering it was about Tensei, Tenya was very much interested in what they had to say. Hopefully, they didn't "cancel" (as some people would say) him, Tensei is an amazing hero.

The video started off with the intro, which then cut to a boy, supposedly Yume, who was wearing a 'boots' sweater. Tenya was surprised at first, he didn't expect the person who shook Japan to be as young as he was. Yume gave a small wave to the camera, "Entry number 3 for Hero Highlight, a series highlighting-" the boy winked, "-heroes who, despite being low in rank or maybe overlooked, has shown the true essence of a hero! This episode, The Turbo Hero Ingenium!"

Tenya watched in awe as the boy, probably no older than 17, explained the history of his brother. "Ingenium is one of the heroes whose civilian names are easy to find, as the Iida Ten Agency is a family run business. His name is Iida Tensei, the eldest son of Iida Sokudo and Iida Kurumi."

Ingenium has been involved in multiple drug busts, including the infamous Koi No group, although his involvement was kept hushed at the time for classified reasons. Other than that, Ingenium has also donated to multiple charities aimed to improving health facilities for lower income families, supplying money for families with children who haven't control their quirks yet, and many more things you might take for granted like services for people to take a quirk proficiency license for work use et cetera!

The boy took out a figurine of Ingenium, holding the figure with care. "This was my first ever figure of Ingenium, part of his first ever merch launch. All of the money raised in that launch was invested in the funds to rebuild destruction caused by villains and heroes alike, it even saved me once when my old house was destroyed."

The boy paused, looking off-screen for a second before turning back to the camera, his smile dimmed slightly. "Other than being the amazing hero Ingenium, he is also Iida Tensei, a smart and loving son and brother. He's mentioned in earlier interviews that he didn't want to be a hero at first, he did it to carry on the legacy of the family. He wanted to be a-" firefighter, Tenya thought in a blink, "-firefighter, but realized in the end that saving people was what made him happy the most!"

The video continued in the same sense, Yume would show off some of Tensei's achievements, some big and known and some more discreet. Tenya could tell the video was made with love and dedication, all the information presented was thorough and delivered genuinely. It made Tenya's heart swell with pride, his brother was an amazing hero and he was glad it was shared with the world.

Studying forgotten, Tenya finished watching the 20 minute video, going on a mini Yume video marathon.

That evening ended with another subscriber to the Yume channel.

Shouta sighed as he trailed behind Hizashi, dreading the meeting he "had" to attend.
Truthfully he didn't have to, but Hizashi didn't really want to go alone.

Especially since Deatharms was the one who called it.

Hizashi said the meeting called most of the heroes Yume has done a video on (minus the underground and late heroes) that were in Musutafu, which weren't many surprisingly. Shouta felt a protective flair twitch in him, he's been talking to Yume for around a month, exchanging emails. Currently, Yume, or Midoriya as he told Hitoshi and later on Shouta, was a secret he hasn't told anyone outside his family about. He didn't want to put the child (because yes, he is still a child, despite shaking the hero community) on the spot, placing him in front of more people, more important and influential people.

The door slid open, revealing Deatharms, Kamui Woods, Selkie, Ryukyu and the Iida Ten heroes (although they were there on behalf of a sidekick, Mahi). Hizashi, Present Mic currently, sat down, Shouta sitting beside him.

The air was tense in a way, it's only been 3 days since that video. Hizashi, who hates awkward situations, decided to cut to the chase. "So, Deatharms-san, why'd you call us all here?"

"I'm sure you know", he replied.

Ryukyu furrowed her eyebrows, "That Yume HeroTuber? What about the kid?" She asked, looking at Deatharms.

"I'm going to sue him for defamation."

"I'm going to sue him for defamation."

Shouta's froze, which is something he rarely does. Sounds of confusion rose in the meeting room. Ryukyu silenced the room, raising her palm. "First of all, this Yume is obviously a teen, not only does he look and act and sound like one, he knows the Sludge Villain victim. Are you seriously considering to sue a child?"

"Yeah, isn't this a bit too much, Deatharms?" Surprisingly, Mount Lady said. Although, Shouta could she why we was more hesitant, she just debuted 2 days ago, and got her carrier tarnished forever the very same day. "I get that you're mad, but when I thought about it, I really wasn't doing my job and being a new hero isn't an-"

"Are you seriously agreeing with him? That child ruined your debut-!"

"Exactly, he's a child!" Hizashi spoke up, crossing his arms in front of his chest, "With all due respect, this definitely isn't the proper way to go. Not only will this probably cause stress on the kid, because yes, he is a kid, I can't imagine how horrible you would look to the public, suing a literal child who was just sharing his opinion."

God, this is why Shouta fell for the man.

"If I may-", Shouta spoke up, not really caring if he 'may not', "-this shit is dumb." Shouta heard Hizashi mumble a Shouta! but he ignored it. "Stop being a petty teenager, you're a fucking hero grown ass adult for goodness sake. Accept that you didn't do your job properly and move the fuck on."

Deatharms scowled, "Eraser, what are you doing here?"

"That isn't the topic, Deatharms. You aren't going to win this suit anyway."

The punching hero grunted. "I'm going with it anyway. If any of you want to join in you can. If you aren't I don't care for your opinions."

Shouta tsked, this is stupid. Who in their right mind would think this is the best move? He's had enough. Shouta stood up abruptly, ignoring the following conversation as he walked out of the room. He could hear Hizashi's heeled boots clack behind him.

"You ok, Shouta? I know you and that little listener talk sometimes. And he's close to Toshi, right?"

"Yeah..." Shouta mumbled, slowing his steps until Hizashi was beside him, "fuck, I don't know if Midoriya can pay for the court fees, Hitoshi mentioned that the boy had money troubles."

Hizashi intertwined his hand with Shouta's, placing a small kiss on his knuckles, "Aw, you've grown attached, huh?" he joked, "Don't worry Shouta, we'll figure this out. How about we meet the listener? We can give him a heads up?"

God he loved his husband.

<hr>

Izuku sighed, running his fingers through his curly abomination he calls hair. His money was sparse, if he deducts the price of the rent, he'd only have around 3000 yen for the month. He could always use the money left for him, but it was originally for school tuition. All the inheritance from mom wouldn't be able to get accessed by Izuku until he was 18, and the HeroTube AdSense helps, but since he's only gotten substantial view for literally 4 days, the load it helped carry was minimal.

Who knew living alone in an apartment very near central Musutafu is expensive?

Izuku was brought out of his almost crying fest by a ding coming from his phone. It was the special one he set for his personal email, he didn't want to accidentally miss it from ignoring Twitter notifications. It was off, usually it was only Eraserhead and some promotion emails from random mail lists he subscribes to. It was nothing, probably. Izuku doubted it was the hero, as he usually emails him on Wednesdays, more so just to check on him (Izuku didn't let his head wonder why the hero would do that, it obviously wasn't to make sure he didn't spill any secrets, since the hero hasn't mentioned Izuku's analysis of him since the first email).

Curious, and willing to do anything but focus on his money hardships, Izuku opened the email.

Kid, this is pretty urgent. I can't tell you much here, it's more of a face to face conversation. I know you live in Musutafu, meet me here [Location attached] at 2:00 today. Bring your guardian, tell me ahead of time if you really can't make it, but I hope you do for the sake of your HeroTube career.

Eraserhead.

If that wasn't concerning. What has Izuku done that warranted such an urgent email? Did someone find his honestly very suspicious google searches about heroes? Look, Izuku knows searching 'Is it possible to overhear someone with fire immunity' is suspicious, but he wasn't going to actually do anything. He doesn't even tell the public that!

Is it because he mentioned that he got some help from the Resume Charity? It wasn't like he scammed them, his house was genuinely destroyed (destroyed is sort of an understatement especially since he did it on purpose and-) and he is sure that the charity does a thorough check before giving the money.

Maybe he's overthinking this- oh who was he kidding he's obviously overthinking this.

It was still 10am, so Izuku decided to ignore his probably impending doom (by Eraserhead of money, whichever came first) and finished up his assignments for that day. By the time Izuku was done it was still only 1pm.

Sighing, Izuku decided to get ready early, maybe he can find a villain fight to analyze later on. Izuku changed into a short sleeved shirt with pajamas written on the front, not wanting to sweat since it was summer currently. After a short glance around his apartment, Izuku left the safe space, locking the door behind him.

Maybe he should've worn some sort of hat, because not a block away from his house someone stopped him, "Oh. Em. Gee! You're like- that Yume boy, right?" Izuku's eyes widened, freezing momentarily. The person who called him a blond girl and looked around his age. "You are...right?" She tilted her head.

"U-uhm, y-yeah that's me. H-hi..." Izuku mumbled, fiddling with his fingers. "That's like- so cool. Can you take a pic with me? That would be amazing", she smiled, and of course Izuku has to agree, it's the first fan he's met face to face.

"Um, sure. I guess? If you can please don't tag the location, I don't want people to know where I am.." he trailed off, god he was not good at this. "Oh of course! Say cheese!!" She said out of the blue, only giving Izuku time to smile awkwardly. "Oh my god, you are so cute. Anyways, I have to go. Bye, Yume!" She walked away sending a flying kiss to Izuku.

That was... an experience..?

Izuku snapped out of his mini trance, Izuku wondered around the area, checking his phone for any news. The location Eraserhead sent was... a cat cafe-? Interesting, but not surprising from the amount of photos people got of him purely because he was distracted by those felines.

Peeking inside the cafe, Izuku spotted a boy in the back with black hair, another one with purple next to a blonde haired person, but no one who looked like Eraserhead. Izuku still had 40 minutes until the agreed time, so the green haired boy wandered around the nearby park. It was mainly empty (as expected for a Tuesday), so Izuku chose a bench to sit down on and enjoy the air.

Maybe a few minutes passed when Izuku felt someone sit down beside him. Odd, since there were other benches empty, but whatever. Until they spoke up. "You're that Yume dude, right?" Izuku froze. The way they said the question was off. Izuku turned his head, seeing a tall man with dirty brown hair. "Uh- y-yeah that's me-"

A sudden shove to his chest made Izuku fall off the bench, the man now leering above him. "Who the fuck do you think you are, huh? Some wannabe hero brat?" Izuku gulped, shaking his head rapidly. His chest hurt, and his breathing was unstable. "You think you're better than the heroes, huh? I'll fucking-"

Izuku heard a whipping sound, and suddenly the man was enveloped in some kind of white fabric. White fabric like... Izuku's eyes widened, following the fabric back to- Eraserhead!

"H-hey! Let me go! You shouldn't be saving this brat. Y-you're a hero, right? He mocked-" The capture weapon (so cool!!!) wrapped around the man's mouth, leaving his words muffled. "You really shouldn't be picking fights, kid."

"E-eraserhead! I wasn't- uh- I-" Izuku couldn't form words, he was there, in front of his, the actual Eraserhead! Like- in real life- clear- majestic- and Izuku snap out of your fanboy-ing.

"C'mon kid", Eraserhead (the Eraserhead) called, "the police will handle him. We'll be late, and he's already getting suspicious."

Izuku nodded, quickly getting off of the ground and following behind the hero. "Uh- who's 'he'?" All Eraserhead did was smirk.

<Am I in danger?>

<hr>

Hitoshi grumbled, shoving a spoon of pavlova into his mouth. Dad was being suspicious, suddenly asking them to go to a cat cafe. Not that he was complaining, but from the awful mood they had when they came back from that meeting, maybe they just wanted to loosen up. Still didn't explain why they were glancing at him every once in a while, Pops was giggling like a teenager and Dad was checking his phone a lot.

Hitoshi sighed, looking out the front of the cafe to see when Dad was coming back from his 'bathroom break' (which is his way of saying 'I'm going to find some stray cats to feed them') when Hitoshi saw- Midoriya? Hitoshi blinked, rubbing his eyes and yes- it was Midoriya with his dad right behind him what is happening-

"My husband and son are here", Hitoshi could hear his dad say. "You have a husband and son-?!" Midoriya's eyes glowed with excitement. "Dad? Midoriya? What are you-" The green haired boy paused, tilting his head at Hitoshi before-

"Shinsou?! W-what you didn't tell me your dad was Eraserhead!! You- you knew!"
The boy's face turned an embarrassed red, before plopping down next to Hitoshi. "Wait- you didn't know I was coming?"

Hitoshi grumbled, facing his Pops, "You knew didn't you? That's why you were acting all giddy?"

His Pops just laughed, "But your face was so hilarious-" Midoriya gasped, "Oh my fucking god- Present Mic-?!"

"Yup! That's me little listener! Although, keep it shush, yeah?" Midoriya nodded hastily, making Pops smile. "Where's your guardian, listener?"

Midoriya tensed, "I- uh, they're...busy?" Dad tsked, "Is that a question?" The underground hero raised a brow.

"I- uhm, no? They're busy. Yes."

"Very believable, kid. Tell me the truth."

"I- I live uh- alone. Um, my mom died last year and I don't know where my dad is..."

What.

<hr>

Izuku held his breath, waiting for the two heroes, or at least Shinsou (god having two heroes as parents that's so cool--) to speak up. The table was silent, before Present Mic let out a small, fuck.

The two heroes looked at each other, communicating silently. Izuku glanced at his editor, who looked equally as confused but also... worried? Why?

"Is everything ok, Present Mic?" Izuku mumbled. "Ah- call me Yamada, listener. And you can call Shou Aizawa. Who- who takes care of you?"

"Oh. I take care of myself. I have a job at a grocery store nearby my house and my landlord gives me discounts so..."

The two heroes were now staring at him worryingly, and Shinsou's brows were furrowed.

"Fuck, ok. Kid, Deatharms is wanting to sue you."

Izuku felt his heart stutter, his hands became clammy.

"W-what?" His voice cracked, no, no, no- he doesn't- he can't-

"Midoriya, hey, breath", Shinsou said, making sure Izuku could see him. "I- I- can't-

A sudden fog filled up Midoriya's mind, it was cloudy, unfocused and hazy. "Calm down," a voice cut through it all, "breath with me. In, out. In, out. That's good, keep doing it, in, out."

Suddenly he was back in the cafe, his breathing normal and his mind calm. "Sorry," Shinsou mumbled, shifting away from Izuku slightly, "...wanted to calm you down..."

"Midoriya", Eraser- Aizawa called, "We'll find a solution. First things first though, eat something. I'm sure you haven't had lunch. I'll pay for you."

Izuku nodded slowly, pointing to some random sandwich on the menu. A soft conversation rose from Aizawa and Yamada, while the two teens were in an awkward silence.

"S-so..." Izuku mumbled, "finished that documentary you were editing?"

Shinsou huffed, amused. "Not yet, Loud Claw wouldn't stop...."

<hr>

Izuku went home with a promise of a more in depth talk. Aizawa-san mumbled something about rats, so Izuku decided not to push it. Shinsou was even more sarcastic in real life. It was interesting though, putting a face to the voice that was by his side for the past month. (Izuku was also ready to spam Shinsou with messages about how the purple haired boy betrayed him by not telling Izuku about the two heroes he lives with, but that was future Shinsou's problem)

<h3>Transcript of "Small break, sorry!!!"</h3>

by coffecat | English translation by coffecat

[The video is a short one, opening immediately with Yume sitting on the couch, skipping the intro. Yume is dressed in what looks to be basic house wear, shorts with a sweater which was blank. A small text in white appears, 'Oh so he does have normal clothes']

Yume: Hey guys! This isn't going to be a long video or anything. I just wanted to give you guys a heads up that I'll be taking a short break from uploading, so don't be surprised if I don't post anything this Sunday. I'm very thankful for all the support I've gotten recently!

[Yume pauses, most likely thinking about what to say next]

Yume: I can't really say why I'm going on a break, just know that I'm perfectly fine and healthy, and that I will come back. On a lighter note though, I met Editor-kun for the first time today! He's very good looking!

[The text appears again, showing 'no im not']

Yume: And also looked sleep deprived. Editor-kun you better not be editing this at 3am.

[Another small white text appears, 'you're not the boss of me', before flashing to '...' and then finally to 'ok you kinda are but shut up']

Yume: Anyway- that's all for this short video! I'll see you guys after this break, bye!!

[Video turns black]

Eraserhead

Damn you, rat

I need your help

GOTW

Oh?

Chapter 4

<center><h1>Chapter 4</h1></center>

<center>Second Channel :D</center>

"So," the rat started, sipping his tea innocently, "What do you need help with, Aizawa?"

Don't act like you don't know.

Shouta sighed, relenting. He'd tried so hard to keep Midoriya away from Nezu's circle, or anyone's circle basically, but he knew that the rat wouldn't do anything to harm children.

"I think you've seen the drama with Deatharms and Yume. The kid needs help."

The rat just smiles, "And I assume you have had prior contact with Midoriya-kun? You were the one that warned him about the law suit, no?" The rat's eyes were mischievous, calculating.

Shouta would like to say he was surprised that the rat knew the boy's real name or about their talks, but is he really? Ignoring the question, Shouta pushed his focus.

"He doesn't have the resources to win this case and you're the only person I know can help. This kid lives alone, he's barely surviving with the money he has. I already contacted Tsukauchi to ask about the kid's family but he hasn't reported back yet."

The rat took another sip of his tea, seemingly thinking. "I'll help Midoriya-kun, but I wish to see him in person. I have a preposition."

Shouta's eyes narrowed, "You're not going to deny help if he declines whatever you're offering, right?"

"Oh of course not! That boy has a brilliant mind, I think a little conversation would be fun!"

Shouta grunted, "Fine. I'll bring him with me tomorrow", he grumbled out, "And don't try to do anything funny." Shouta turned around, walking out of the office.

He heard the rat chuckle from behind him, "Me? I would never."

<hr>

A knock erupted from Izuku's front door, cutting him from his school work.

Who could it be? Aizawa-san maybe? How'd he find my house?

Izuku opened the door to see a tall man in an overcoat. Please don't be a murderer, please don't be a murderer, please don't-

"Are you Midoriya Izuku?" The man asked, cutting Izuku from his thought spiral. Izuku nodded, "Y-yes. Do you... need anything?"

"I'm Detective Tsukauchi Naomasa from the Musutafu Police Department. You're Yume, right? The HeroTuber?"

Oh no- Oh no no no no- "Am I going to get arrested..." Izuku whimpered, trying to hide behind his door.

The detective looked shocked for a second before his expression softened, "Of course not, kid. I'm here on behalf of Eraserhead. I have some questions if you're comfortable with answering them. We can do it here if you prefer?"

Izuku hesitated, but it wasn't like he could do much to refuse. Plus, the man knew Eraserhead, so he was either an actual police officer or- y'know, a criminal who has heard of the hero.

Ok, maybe not the best vote of confidence.

Izuku backed away from the door, letting the man walk into his home. "Sorry for the intrusion", Tsukauchi-san announced (to who Izuku wasn't sure), taking off his shoes and waiting for Izuku to lead the way.

Izuku closed the door, eyeing the detective nervously as he walked them to the couch. "Do you uh- want something to drink or...?" Izuku winced at how his voice shook. "No thank you. If it's ok with you we can start?"

Izuku nodded, awkwardly sitting down next to the man. "Let's begin with how this will work, ok? I'll be recording this conversation for Eraserhead and for future reference. I am legally obligated to tell you about my quirk, Lie Detector, which lets me know if you're lying. I cannot turn it off."

Izuku felt his brain snap to attention, "How does it feel? Is it some kind of psychic ability? Like a form of mind reading? Does it detect half lies? What if you ask a question but it's not specific? Like you asked me what I was doing on Wednesday but I answered what I did the Wednesday 3 weeks ago? What about more subjective questions? What if they truly believe something even if it's factually wrong-?"

Izuku quickly covered his mouth, eyes wide as he looked at the detective.

He... wasn't mad. Or creeped out.

"Oh wow, people don't usually ask that. I'm not sure about most of those questions honestly. We could test them later if you want?"

"Really?! I- I mean- really...? I don't want to be a bother..."

The detective chuckled, "It's no problem, really. We should get to the questions, ok?"

Izuku nodded, his nervousness gone and now excited to dissect the new interesting quirk.

Tsukauchi-san took out a recorder of some kind, making sure Izuku saw it turning on. "This is Detective Tsukauchi Naomasa of the Musutafu Police Department. Today is Wednesday XX June 2XX1, please state your name, age and quirk."

Izuku squirmed, "Midoriya Izuku, 14....Quirkless..."

Tsukauchi-san didn't react outwardly, continuing with his questions, "Who are you living with?"

"I uh- live alone.

"Where are your parents?"

"My mom is deceased, I don't know where my dad is."

Tsukauchi nodded, writing something down, "When was the last time you've seen your father?"

Izuku stiffened, "I- uhm, when I was 4?" Tsukauchi paused, looking up. "That's a lie, kid." Izuku frowned, fiddling with his fingers, "I he uh- came back once last year. Argued with mom."

"Do you remember when this happened?"

"March 3rd last year..."

Tsukauchi nodded, noting it down. "How are you paying for your rent?"

"My landlord doesn't charge me as much as she should, uhm, I work part-time at the store nearby, I sold some of my old hero merch too. I don't get any inheritance until I'm of age..." Izuku trailed off awkwardly, looking up at the man.

The detective smiled softly, ruffling Izuku's hair, "You're a strong kid, Midoriya. Eraserhead will contact you soon, don't worry about the law suit, we're handling it."

Izuku felt tears well up a bit, he's been unconsciously pushing his feelings about the possible suit away, trying his best not to think about how much it could ruin his life. He nodded, "Thank you Tsukauchi-san."

"Nothing to thank me for, kid. Eraser's doing most of the work, thank him later. I'll be going kid." Izuku nodded vigorously, leading the detective out.

Izuku sighed, Time to get back to school...

Editor-kun ^ ^

yo dad needs to meet you
idk what its abt tho
he keeps murmuring abt rats so

What :D
Rats?
Am I in trouble?

nah
i think its abt the suit
speaking of, you ok?
you were pretty panicked yestrday

Yeah I think I'm fine
A detective came by! :D
OH NO I FORGOT TO ASK HIM ABOUT HIS QUIRK

His quirk was so interesting ;-;

Imao rip bro

seriously tho if u need to talk im here and dad would be happy to help you Imao

havent seen him this serious since he adopted me

Wait you're adopted-

ye?

...I thought you and Aizawa-san are related-

NOT YOU TOO

lol
...mido?

you ok Imao?

mido????

I AM HERE

is that an all might ref?

Dammit I should stop doing that,
Thanks for the number tho :DDD

sure lol

anyway,

i finished the loud claw docu

:000

I shall watch OwO

<hr>

Izuku followed behind the underground hero, anxiousness settling in. The adrenaline rush that came from being in UA has worn off and Izuku didn't know what to expect.

Apparently Nezu (the Nezu) wanted to meet with him. Him. Aizawa-san didn't explain what the principal wanted to talk about (although he did keep muttering about rats like Shinsou said), so the silence between them wasn't helping.

They arrived at what Izuku assumed was Nezu-san's office, the door opening before Aizawa-san could even knock on it. Interesting.

Nezu-san was sitting at his office, sipping a cup of (presumably) tea. "Hello, Midoriya-kun."

Izuku stiffened, "O-oh, hello Nezu-san..."

Aizawa-san scoffed beside him, but said nothing as he sat down in front of Nezu, "C'mere kid."

Izuku nodded, fast-walking to the chair beside the hero.

"It's nice to finally meet you, Midoriya-kun!"

"N-nice to meet you too..."

Nezu-san smiled, taking a slow sip of his tea. "I heard you're in a... predicament"

Izuku chuckled nervously, "I think that's an understatement..." Aizawa-san huffed.

Nezu hummed, "Yes, I guess it is no? Well no worries, I shall handle everything."

Izuku stared dumbly, "W-wait. What?"

Nezu smiled, "I very much respect you, Midoriya-kun", Izuku blinked, "I see potential in you."

Izuku felt his cheeks heat up in embarrassment, "Thank you, sir..."

"Now, I have an offer for you."

Huh?
