

- 1) Paul Santo is a CNN Hero for the work he does with wild cats. He traps cats in the New York area and takes them to the vet to get medical attention and to be neutered. He does this because 80% of all Cat Litters end up living on the streets. Whenever a cat or kitten is friendly, he tries to find a family to adopt them. If they are used to being wild, he returns the cats to where they were trapped.