

Outline of 3 John

- A. Third John. The apostle John wrote this epistle to a man named Gaius, who was well known for his hospitality. The epistle simply commends Gaius for his Christian virtues, cautions him against Diotrephes (a schemer and false teacher) and recommends a man named Demetrius.
- B. Authorship. (See the sections on “First John.”)
- C. Contents. It seems obvious that John wrote this letter to a real individual, rather than using the name Gaius to a group of people. The letter gives Gaius personal praise and advice.

I. John's greetings	1-4
II. Gaius's hospitality	5-8
III. Diotrephes and Demetrius	9-12
IV. Final Greetings	13-14