

The second edition of the quarterly Power Rankings here in Mays have turned out to be the most volatile that I have ever completed, either here or over in FYC. Thirteen of the thirty-two teams made a jump or slide of at least 5 spots, with the biggest movers being a +14 and two -8s. Here's how your team fared over the last 41 games:

Rank	Team	Expected Win%	Expected Wins	Actual Win%	Movement
32	Monterrey	0.329	53	0.317	-1
31	Kansas City	0.330	53	0.305	1
30	New York	0.360	58	0.366	-8
29	Anaheim	0.382	62	0.329	-1
28	Santa Fe	0.386	63	0.366	2
27	Salem	0.401	65	0.415	2
26	Ottawa	0.424	69	0.415	-1
25	Los Angeles	0.436	71	0.366	-5
24	Rochester	0.450	73	0.463	-8
23	Pawtucket	0.451	73	0.427	-6
22	Cincinnati	0.471	76	0.427	-1
21	Louisville	0.472	76	0.476	2
20	Iowa City	0.473	77	0.463	-7
19	Pittsburgh	0.484	78	0.476	-4
18	Scranton	0.484	78	0.488	-4
17	Scottsdale	0.493	80	0.488	9
16	Toledo	0.500	81	0.537	2
15	New Orleans	0.511	83	0.524	9
14	Boston	0.514	83	0.524	14
13	El Paso	0.534	87	0.585	-5
12	Philadelphia	0.539	87	0.561	-5
11	Vancouver	0.544	88	0.500	-6

10	Oklahoma City	0.553	90	0.549	n/a
9	Fargo	0.566	92	0.622	2
8	Boise	0.568	92	0.566	11
7	Oakland	0.593	96	0.610	n/a
6	San Juan	0.597	97	0.622	6
5	Arizona	0.600	97	0.573	-1
4	Richmond	0.615	99	0.585	-2
3	Little Rock	0.634	103	0.671	3
2	Montreal	0.636	103	0.732	1
1	Milwaukee	0.669	108	0.659	n/a