

ZOMBIES

In 1983 There was a kid named Michael. He was very loud and a very violent kid. One morning Michael got into trouble at school for punching a kid who stole his lunch. Michael had to stay after school (he's Grade 12). Michael thought school was dumb. 1 hour later... when Michael finally got out of school he saw people waiting for him because Michael borrowed money from them. Michael said "I don't have money" the people waiting for Michael didn't say a word all they said was "Auggh aahh auugh". Michael just walked back home but he realized nobody was outside. When Michael was home he opened the door in a hurry.

Michael said "Mom, dad are you home!" there was no response. Michael heard the door open Michael ran to the back door he saw his parents but they were zombies. The zombies went closer to him he saw that there saw a zipper at the back of their heads. Michael's parent's took off their masks and they told Michael this was all a joke. Michael said what about all of the people outside, Michael's parents said "We don't know". When they went outside they saw that there were zombies everywhere. Michael and his parent's quickly ran to the car but Michael's dad was too slow and a zombie bit him.

Michael's father said "Leave me" Michael and his mom went to the car. Michael and his mom didn't go far, they were out of gas and they got turned into zombies.
