As an advocacy chapter, in community with our students and staff colleagues, who have deep connections to the working families who are on strike, the GVSU-AAUP chapter expresses our support for the United Auto Workers and their historic labor struggle at General Motors, Ford and Stellantis.

As an advocacy organization concerned with working conditions and their implications, we support the principle that working people have the right to share in decision-making in their workplaces, and express our moral support for the workers, their families, and their union.

In solidarity,

The Advocacy Chapter of the American Association of University Professors at Grand Valley State University
