

Melissa Boucher is a Taiwanese American multidisciplinary artist who dances, makes music, writes poetry, and designs things at a few levels: from pixels and products to teams and systems. Raised in the Bay Area, Melissa lives and works in San Francisco where she subsists on seasonal fruit and hand-folded dumplings. She cares deeply about supporting local artists and small businesses. She's still figuring out how to begin and end conversations. She practices walking, being, and dreaming without a destination. 感謝爸媽，給了我血肉之軀，給了我餵吞和水果，給了我一直求學的機會，給了我生命和陽光。辛苦您們了。不論我走多遠，心中永遠眷戀。
