The award was created to recognize alumni who have contributed to the core mission of the College of Social Sciences, which is “Our work leads to a more just, adaptable, and sustainable society which supports lives that are meaningful, creative, and productive.” Nominees will be reviewed and selected by the College Council of Chairs and an engraved plaque will be formally presented to the recipient at the College of Social Sciences Awards Ceremony.

Eligibility: Typically, the recipient will have completed a degree program that has been offered by one of the departments of the College. In addition, the awardee will have:

- demonstrated exceptional achievement in their chosen field of endeavor, and
- made an impact on the community through public engagement, innovative social entrepreneurship and community empowerment.

There is precedent for honoring a group of alumni working together on the same project. Special consideration will be given to candidates for this award whose SJSU education seemed to be particularly important in the activities for which they are being honored.
