RESULTS

Report the main outcome(s)/findings including (where relevant) levels of statistical significance and confidence intervals.

Authors may insert images or figures as they normally would. To ensure proper formatting, apply the "figure" style to the image and the "figurecaption" style to its caption. Depending on the version of Microsoft Word being used, this can be done by either selecting the image and applying the style directly or by applying the style to an empty paragraph before adding the image.

Please provide tables in an editable text format rather than as images. Position tables near the relevant section of text within the article. They should be numbered in the order they appear in the manuscript, with any explanatory notes placed beneath the table content. Use tables only when necessary and avoid repeating data that is already discussed elsewhere in the text. Refrain from using vertical lines or cell shading in table formatting.

Table titles should be styled using the "tablecaption" format.

Table 1. Example table

Item1	Item2	Item3	Item4	Item5
Test1*	.001	.004	.341	.01
