

<Name>

Mr. Burns

Pre-AP US History I

<Due Date>

New Nation Society

Intro

Society in America was beginning to change as we set-up our nation. Any time in history when people are not struggling you will see . In the late 1700's we had certain cultural advancements in . Below is a chart showing some important cultural figures and the changes they made:

Person	Changes
Mercy Otis Warren
Benjamin Rush
Benjamin Banneker
Charles Willson Peale
Phillis Wheatley

America also began to take an interest in its intellectual future. Who is the future? How are we going to make them better? . Some attempts at this were lead by Noah Webster, a teacher and author, thought it was important for our nation to establish a . To help create this Webster wrote the . State governments were beginning to require free public education to children; however the responsibility of the free education began to fall to private schools.

Other major changes started to change American culture. Same as cultural change, whenever a country is doing well, the population will [redacted]. Every ten years the American population was almost doubling. With population growth, people began to move out of the original 13 states and expand outward. One of the benefits of this was people's ability to continue to get second chances. If something didn't work for you in one area, you could pack up and start over somewhere else. As people moved around they began to interact with new people from different cultures.

Opinion: How do you find friends' in a new environment? [redacted]

Opinion: What about significant others? [redacted]

Women's' Rights

One of the few decisions women had control over was the choice of marriage partners. She had to learn how to judge a potential mate. What qualities should women look for in a potential partner? [redacted]

In order to get advice on searching for men, women read books. Due to the large movements of population to different areas, women had to be cautious of the new strangers they were going to meet. They would take a longer period of getting to know potential partners. This was still a large issue for women because it was important to choose a good husband for survival.

African American Rights

African Americans started to gain some power as well within their communities. Since whites didn't want African Americans in their churches, African Americans began to set-up their own churches. They blended [redacted] traditions with [redacted] traditions. An example of this is call and response prayers. This found its origins in slave cultures but was now a major part of religious practice. They also used the church as a way to promote their negative feelings about the world around them. This would be the beginning of a movement for better lives for African Americans.

Classwork: Read each of the three "Women and their Roles in the 1800's" Articles. Answer the questions below related to each article.

Education: Women have come a long way since these early days of education. How has Emma Willard impacted today's society? [redacted]

Politics: How have women's role in politics changed, since the early days of women being seen as "foolish speakers?" [redacted]

Science and Mathematics: What are some ways women have contributed to science and math in today's society? [redacted]

HW Rubric

Completed Each Task:

4 Student completed all tasks assigned effectively ▾

Effort Displayed

4 Student response to tasks demonstrated an effort beyond expectations ▾

Use of Lesson Concepts

4 Student integrated and expanded upon the ideas of the lesson into their responses ▾