Various UCC fighters are scheduled to appear as guest stars.

The following is a plot synopsis for Season 1, Episode 3.

Debby comes back from an unsuccessful date, which prompts the Starlets to discuss dating euphemisms. Maisie reveals that she did not know her parents hid the fact that her pet raccoon had passed away. Kira is reluctant to introduce her new girlfriend, Mary Mouser, to her friends because they have mocked all of her previous girlfriends, but to her surprise, after meeting Mary, they tell her that they love her. However, she later realizes that she does not feel a spark between Mary and herself. She asks her friends if they think that she can sometimes be a little "too Mary Mouser". The two break up, and Mary mentions that although she enjoyed being with Kira, she was irritated by the rest of her friends.

Peyton has a part in a play where she has to smoke, and practices smoking with Millie, who resumes her old smoking habit, much to the Starlet's irritation. Debby becomes very agitated with her bank when they accidentally put an extra $500 in her bank account. Not able to use the money due to guilt, Debby informs the bank of this error. She receives a vibrator for the inconvenience. However, instead of removing the $500 from her account, they add another $500 to it. She gives the money and the vibrator away to Victoria Silvestedt, an old, homeless acquaintance on the street. Victoria buys her a can of soda out of gratitude. When Debby opens it, she finds a human thumb, so she receives compensation from the soda company of $7,000. The episode ends with Debby giving the $7,000 to Millie if she promises to never smoke again, which she agrees to.

(Guest starring Mary Mouser as Kira's girlfriend, and Victoria Silvestedt as Debby's homeless friend)
