Forkast Prediction Market Review for 2026

Forkast.gg is one of the many prediction market platforms that make trading easy to access. That alone makes the operator worth keeping an eye on, and in this Forkast.gg review, I'll break down everything I discovered about it.

To kick things off, I'll show you how the platform works and what it takes to get on board. From there, I'll dive into the promo deals and offers you can find on the site. Since Forkast.gg puts a big emphasis on its agentic-focused environment, I'll cover that too. And of course, you'll learn if the platform is legit.

What Forkast prediction market is all about

As you can already tell, Forkast.gg is a prediction market platform where you can trade on event outcomes in real time. Instead of placing a traditional sportsbook wager, you buy or sell outcome shares whose prices move with the market. The platform covers a wide range of options, with esports as its biggest category.

That said, you can predict outcomes for everything from LoL, CS2, Valorant, and Dota 2 events. Each game comes with its own category and offers markets tied to major competitions such as the LCK, LEC and Dota 2's The International. While Forkast also branches into crypto prediction markets and other contracts linked to sports and finance, its esports collection takes the stage.

Beyond trading itself, Forkast agentic prediction market is another feature I really took a liking to. ATLAs is the no-code AI agent on the platform that lets you to monitor and trade markets based on your personalized settings. This gives traders the freedom to enter markets, predict outcomes, and rack up gains without being glued to the screen all day.

Forkast.gg bonus deals and promos

Since Forkast isn't a sportsbook of any sort, you won't find the usual betting-style bonuses or flashy promotions here. Instead, the incentives are tied to your activity on the platform. That said, here's what you can expect on the site:

Referral program

What you get when you refer a friend to Forkast is one of the highlights of the platform. The best part is your newly referred trader gets a reward too. For the invitee, they get a 25% discount on trading fees for their first three months after qualifying. You, on the other hand, will receive 10% of that invitee's generated trading fees for six months, paid out in platform credits.

Quests, missions, and leaderboard

From quests as simple as creating an ATLAS agent to linking your Forkast account with social media or trading set amounts in specific markets, you get incentives. For example, just by trading a dollar on the LoL matchup between BNK FEARX vs Dplus KIA on Sep 3, you can rack up $0.01 in rewards. The site also offers seasonal leaderboard opportunities for you to predict outcomes and climb ranks for rewards.

Badges and benefits

If you are comparing Forkast with OG prediction market review on VIP rewards, you may be looking at a more subtle approach. At Forkast, the loyalty program isn't the traditional system you'd expect. It is more focused on your participation and engagement in the platform. As you level up, you unlock new badges and, more importantly, get benefits that include the following:

- Unlimited withdrawals
- Zero fees for life
- Hidden Pnl
- Hidden activity

The Forkast.gg interface that offers the experience

The first thing on my mind when reviewing prediction markets is how easy it is to navigate, and Forkast.gg crosses that feature nicely. Its layout alone shows you the platform's priorities. Every esports category has a section for itself. I mean, there was a section for esports, and then for Gaming: LoL, CS2, Valorant, and Dota 2.

In addition to esports, the site also covers football, MLB, crypto, stocks, finance, and UFC. The more advanced side is where Forkast separates itself from tech prediction markets. So, there's nothing in the tech industry to make your predictions on. However, its rich esports collection, coupled with its AI trading agent, is where the full experience lies, and you can easily access that on the platform.

Speed-wise, there seems to be no hitch with the Forkast website. Moving from section to section only took seconds, with no lag whatsoever. If you are comparing it to the best apps like Kalshi, Forkast is just a bit different. The operator has yet to release a dedicated mobile application, but its mobile website has everything you need to trade on the go.

Deposits and withdrawals at Forkast.gg

When it comes to deposits, Forkast leans heavily on cryptocurrencies. In other words, traditional banking options are limited. The main funding route is through USDC on Arbitrum. And when deposited, USDC is converted into Trading Credits at a 1:1 ratio. While this means seamless banking for crypto-native users, newcomers will still find the process easy to pick up.

Across most Forkast.gg reviews, you'll find that there are fees attached to transactions on the prediction market platform. Buy orders are free, but matched sell orders that remove liquidity carry a 0.50% trading fee. Also, converting Trading Credits back to USDC incurs a 0.25% withdrawal fee, plus any additional network costs.

To be honest, the transparency of the operator, where everything about banking is visibly displayed on the platform, was encouraging. And as you'd expect, the processing of assets here depends on the blockchain. So, you can expect quick deposits and cashouts. In my experience, deposits were near-instant, while withdrawals took a few minutes.

Forkast.gg customer support service

The support on Forkast might not be the most complete, but it sure has the best interests of its traders in mind. My main criticism is with immediacy, as I did not find a 24/7 live chat service on the site. On the plus side, there is a detailed knowledge base that explains everything from account creation to deposits, bonuses, wallets, and even security tips for your account.

For direct help, you get access to an email address, where you can hit the platform up and lodge complaints. This could be about trading CS2 esports prediction markets or wallet issues, and you're sure to get a detailed response, but not instantly. Discord and X (formerly Twitter) support is also available for complaints, as the operator has a dedicated team handling queries in the channel.

Overall, the knowledge base, email, and social media support options are fairly solid, but I would still prefer the convenience of live, real-time support. In short, here is what Forkast.gg support looks like:

Live chat	None available
Email	support@forkast.gg

Discord	discord.gg/forkast
X (Twitter)	https://x.com/ForkastGG

Is Forkast.gg legit?

Of course, Forkast has not made an obvious statement as a US-regulated prediction market like Kalshi. This has even sparked questions, such as "Is Forkast a scam?" Still, that regulation alone is not enough to determine whether the platform is truly legit.

Forkast runs on Arbitrum, uses proxy wallets, and has a transparent fee structure. This puts the prediction market on the positive side, but more would help. The site is HTTPS-secured and appears to be backed by solid encryption services.

As for geography, it is listed that the United States is a restricted region. However, the terms are just broad information. To be sure your location is allowed, it's best to review the terms carefully and confirm before trading on the platform.

Conclusion - Forkast.gg can be your go-to esports prediction market platform

If you want to trade on real-world outcomes with the support of an AI agent, Forkast.gg is your guy. Besides the fact that it offers an agentic setup that allows you to scan markets and create orders instantly, it comes with a rich portfolio of esports options. This includes prediction markets for top titles like LoL, Valorant, CS2, and Dota 2.

While its regulation isn't as broad as it seems and comes with a crypto-focused setup, the site may not be for everyone. So, if you're looking for where to use traditional banking methods or even access to 24/7 live support, you may need to look elsewhere.

That said, Forkast is a prediction market platform that delivers almost everything in esports and other markets with AI experience. When you're ready, click the banner on this page to join Forkast and see for yourself.
