I'm surprised...

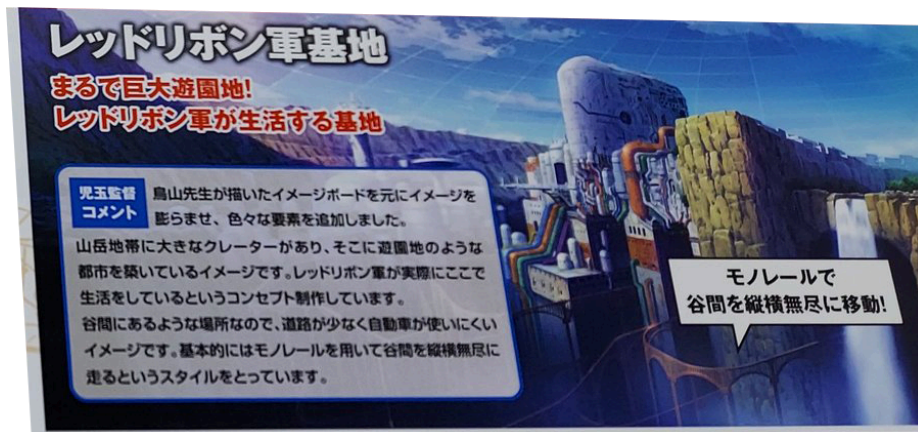

I never thought someone would send me a letter...

If I ever meet you, I will train you. Wait and see!

Interview with Director Kodama about highlights and behind-the-scenes stories

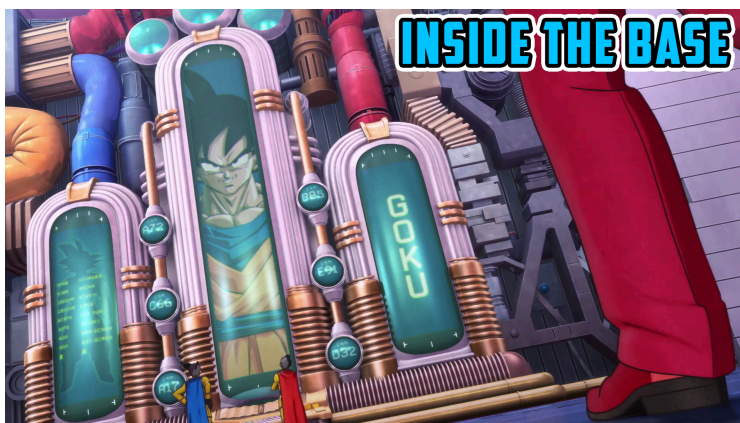

Red Ribbon Army Base

"The monorail takes you all over the valley!"

It's like a giant amusement park! This base where the Red Ribbon Army operates.

Dir. Kodama: We developed the image based on the concept art drawn by Toriyama-Sensei, and added various elements. In this image, there is a large crater in a mountainous area, and a city like a park is built there. The concept is that the Red Ribbon Army actually resides here. Situated in a valley, the image is that of a place with fewer roads, making it difficult to use automobiles. Basically, the valley is traversed by monorail.

"Vertical takeoff and landing possible!"

Dir. Kodama: We set the "classic" concept for the planes seen in the movie like in the original manga. In this movie, the battle jackets and flying bikes will also appear with the same design as the Red Ribbon Army appeared in the past episodes. We have taken care to create a design that does not look out of place when mixed with those new mechs. We've also upgraded a lot of things in terms of functionality! Capacity has been increased and cargo space has been created. The nozzle at the bottom allows for vertical takeoff and landing.

Piccolo's House

"The way the light hits it, the color appears."

Mail can be delivered to such places...?!

Dir. Kodama: In addition to the model designed by Toriyama-Sensei, the creative team set up a seven-color-like color scheme. The texture is inspired by mortar. It is a residence, so of course, it has an address! There is a mailbox too, which means that mails can also be delivered!!

Red Ribbon Army Uniforms

Piccolo Red Ribbon Army costume!!

"Highly advanced weapons packed with the latest technology from the Red Ribbon Army!"

Dir. Kodama: The uniform was also designed by Toriyama-Sensei. Being a military enthusiast, he put a lot of thought into this design!
My personal favorite is the orange gun they have. This gun fires lasers, so it is designed to be fitted with a cylinder instead of a magazine. This is a very particular gun that was produced based on the details given by Akira Toriyama-Sensei.

Equipments of other soldiers.

Some soldiers seem to wear hats instead of helmets.

Director Kodama's message for all movie-goers

For this film, we have created detailed settings for accessories, costumes, vehicles, etc., which will make you say, "Even these things have the RR mark?!"

I would be glad if you could pay attention to such details. Hope you enjoy the show!
