

Pleasure meeting you

I'm JB — retired Navy Chief Petty Officer, HR professional, and aspiring real estate investor based in Kansas City. I spent nearly 18 years in the Navy managing personnel, operations, and administrative systems before transitioning into state government work. I have a knack for simplifying complicated processes and making them accessible to people who find them overwhelming. Right now I'm actively building my first rental portfolio through the ADPI program and connecting with other investors in the KC area. If you're doing deals or just figuring it out like me, let's connect.
