

“Sire, a message from your son,” the Demon King’s attendant bowed, handing his king a piece of parchment. The letter had travelled a long way, all the way from the human capital. His son, Alastor, had been tasked to infiltrate and monitor the Hero, mankind’s strongest warrior and the Demon King’s fated opponent. The Demon King opened the letter, eager to hear of his son’s progress.

Dearest Lord Father,

My infiltration into the human kingdom has been a success. I have successfully integrated myself into the Hero’s party, initially disguised as a human warrior who was to aid him in his quest. The fool did not even think for a second that one of his compatriots could be a spy!

During my extended stay with the Hero, I had spent many nights training and travelling with him, slowly gaining his trust. Eventually, my efforts bore fruit, and I was able to secure info on the Hero’s biggest weakness! Although I should have reported it to you first, I believed you would have wanted me to take care of it myself, so I proceeded to enact my plan. I laid a trap, a gender-swapping curse prepared by one of my subordinate succubi. And when the Hero was about to activate it...

I leapt in and took the trap for him!

I would like to report that my performance was quite convincing. Neither the Hero nor our other compatriots knew I was the one to lay the trap when it transformed me. Even after I had made a folly by accidentally letting the curse reveal my demonic personage, they assumed it was part of the curse!

Now that I had successfully changed my gender, I could execute the next part of my plan: wooing the Hero. I would spend the next few days attempting to seduce him. My ‘sacrifice’ had easily gained his favour, so it was a simple task of several intimate dates to turn that indebtedness into something more. Thanks to instruction from my subordinate succubi, I was even able to successfully bed him! While I was unfamiliar with my body, he even helped me learn much more intimate techniques to seduce him even further! The fool was simply helping me to advance his own downfall!

Now, here’s some good news I’d like to report: the Hero proposed to me! He knelt down while we were in front of the king of the human nation and asked for my hand. He was effectively saying I was more important to him than even his own nation! The King, just as much of a fool, blessed us both and had even decided to fund our wedding himself. I was able to drain a massive amount of funds from the kingdom’s coffers by ordering the most elegant dress and having them host the most elaborate and extravagant wedding reception for my husband and me!

Now that we are on our honeymoon, I believe I have now fully exploited the Hero’s weakness. On our long nights together, he had said the only person he couldn’t defeat was his maternal parent. Now that you are his father-in-law, I believe you now have the same immunity she does. Though, perhaps you should swap your gender as well, just to be sure. Be sure to do it before we visit you a week after you receive this letter.

Regards,
Your daughter, Astraea

PS. Although I wanted to keep this a secret, I do have a duty to inform you as part of my report. You can expect an heir in the next eight months.

As the Demon King rolled up the letter, his court looked to him, expecting good news. Instead, they were met with confusion as he simply laid his head in his hand and muttered to himself, "My son is an idiot."