

Jessica Spitsen is the Director of Business Development and Communications for BVH Architecture, where she started in 2017. Jessica moved to Nebraska from Florida in 2013, which introduced her to what seasons are and how snow works.

After years in advertising helping different brands find their voice – from student loan companies to hospices to downtown associations – Jessica found BVH as a place where her interest in wayfinding signage, well-designed downtown streetscapes, and lovingly preserved history are appreciated. Coupled with her background as a writer and marketer, Jessica loves telling the stories of BVH and the projects it creates.

When not busy with the latest and greatest at work, Jessica is usually running long distances, baking elaborate desserts, and spending time with her husband, Joe, and their mastiff/boxer mix, Trafford. She is also a voracious reader and listens to an inadvisable number of podcasts, so she's always ready to dip into her vast array of totally useless trivia to answer questions no one asked