SYNOPSIS

When a young novitiate named Maria proves too spirited for convent life in 1930s Austria, she is sent by her abbess to serve as a governess to seven children of a widowed naval officer, Captain Georg von Trapp. Her love of music and her charisma liven up the strict home, and the children come to adore her. Captain von Trapp feels differently at first, but soon Maria captures his heart too. Maria realizes convent life may not be her path. She and Georg fall in love and marry.

Following their honeymoon, they return home to find that their beloved Austria has been invaded by the Nazis who demand that the captain immediately serve in their navy. Refusing to concede, the family and their closest friends create a plan to escape to safety through the mountains and into Switzerland.

DIRECTOR’S NOTE

There are a few people whom I’d like to recognize and thank: Kathy, Madeline, Michelle, Kristen, Robert, Mason, Ambria, and Lisa. A successful team makes this program possible! It makes me so happy to see theatre growing at this school, and I know I couldn’t do it without this amazing team of professionals surrounding me. Thank you to Robyn Folsom for building the theatre program into what it is today, and to all of the arts boosters and volunteers who put in work behind the scenes, so that I could focus on directing and the students could focus on acting.

Finally, to my wonderful wife, Stacey, thank you for supporting this passion of mine. I adore the precious few moments that we get around my crazy schedule. Thanks for spending them with me!

When I chose this play, over a year ago, I didn’t realize we’d be in a country where some folks try to normalize Nazi salutes. It is pleasant to see a show in which the good guys prevail - the von Trapps fled to America and America defeated the Nazis - especially when our future is less certain. In the 65 years since this musical premiered, the world has had to deal with many fascists and authoritarians, and one thing I am certain of is that if there were more Marias, who see the beauty in nature and song, and more Georgs, who can be patriots without cruelty, the world would be a better place.

I’m dedicating my direction of this show to my Austrian, Catholic grandmother, who I know is watching from above.
