Be Nice

You are part of a community, and this means that you should respect one another. We are not just faceless Internet Entities, we are also human beings. Every post that you make has the potential to affect a person's life. Sometimes you may upset them without meaning to, but here a few ways to reduce the negative effects you may have on members and increase your Nice level.

- Do not directly insult a member - Insults or mean words or pejoratives intended to harm a member are forbidden here at Oracular World.
- Don't make malicious dupe accounts - Duping for the purpose of parody, role play or other harmless activities is acceptable. Do not make dupe accounts to circumvent punishment, or use them for Nasty activities.
- Be courteous and respectful - If you can see that a member is becoming upset because of your actions, try to alter your Posting Style. Sometimes a member may become upset because they are In The Wrong, but in all other cases, be nice to your fellow member.

There are other tactics that you can employ to maximise your Nice Levels. Here are some things that you should do.

- Try to read the posts in a topic - This reduces the chance of stalling a conversation or derailing a topic.
- Enrich lives - If you think that you can say something to a member or members that will make their lives better, do not hesitate to make a post! There is not enough happiness in this world, so do your bit to help your fellow member.

There is one incentive for become Nice members: if we all become Nice, we will achieve an engaging and enriching community that will positively affect our lives. One day we will achieve the Promised Community and maintain it for the betterment of all of its members.

Members of the Shadow [redacted] Team will refrain from using their powers except for initiatives that benefit the community. The Shadow [redacted] Team must only act in order to increase Nice levels and reduce Nasty levels.
