

The outreach is for masseurs/psychomotor therapist

Important note: night terrors are what some (typically young children) experience where they wake up uncontrollably screaming at night

SL: (I have no idea Right Now)

Hello Maj-Britt,

I came across your website while researching “night terrors” because of my little brother, and I particularly noticed the small boxes you have on your website with your various areas of curing opportunities.

And while those boxes are coherent and easy to understand I have a key method to make them more intriguing by using them as bait to get more people the help they need

I have taken the liberty of implying it.

Just send me a quick message and i will send the new text over
Best regards,