

I have some video clips of Wallstreet Trapper, 19 Keys and others towards the end of this document. These video clips will show what they, and EYL and other entrepreneurs, are pushing on black people. But first, you have to learn about it in order to see it.

FYI: I tried to keep this as short as possible (this is not the full extent of the evidence).

Warning

Blue Pill or Red Pill - The Matrix

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=zE7PKRjrid4>

The powers-that-be failed, but in a way also succeeded, at turning black people on to the New Age religion by funneling the teachings through the scammers in the black Conscious community and scamming “Christian” televangelists. And then out of nowhere came the scamming entrepreneurs with the same teachings. I guess this is all just some huge coincidence.

The New Age Movement: meditation, yoga, mantras/chants, third eye, the pineal gland, chakras, law of attraction, sage, incense, crystals, astrology, vision boards, affirmations, angel numbers; belief in karma, reincarnation, the Universe; belief in energy, frequency, vibration, and raising and lowering consciousness; New Thought teachings; belief that the feminine is God/divine; ascended masters, spirit guides, and tarot cards.

1. Do you even know where or who this stuff came from?
2. Do you know why it's here in the Western hemisphere when it's not even from the Western Hemisphere?
3. Can you show me proof that each one exists and works the way you believe it to work? If not, you believe by faith.

FYI: It's not a coincidence that all the teachings coming from the puppets on stage, like the televangelists, have an extreme focus on self (your best life now; how you can gain blessing; how to attract this to you; you, you, you). That, with the belief that you create your destiny and can control reality, even speaking things into existence or attracting it into your life, all comes together as one belief – you are God. Basically, by introducing this belief in pieces, over time and through different sources, the powers-that-be were able to transform society without people noticing what was happening to them. Society was unable to see that they had actually taken on a new religion, often called spirituality. And speaking of religion and spirituality, this all happened at a time when the powers-that-be, through their System, the same system you saw singing the same tune when it came to Covid, carried out a massive smear campaign against Christianity and religion in general. They did that, then introduced people to “spirituality” – the New Age teachings. “Here, take this. Nah, this is not religion, it's spirituality.”

Let's start with a little info on yoga and meditation.

“White notes in his paper that the term ‘yoga’ in the Vedas actually refers to a yoke, as in the yoke over animals — and at times a chariot in the midst of battle. Interestingly, in some of these very early writings, yoga was used to describe a warrior dying and transcending into heaven, being carried by his chariot to reach the gods and higher powers of being.”

<http://www.medicaldaily.com/brief-history-yoga-ancient-hindu-scriptures-modern-westernized-practice-358162>

“The earliest extant systematic account of yoga and a bridge from the earlier Vedic uses of the term is found in the Hindu Kathaka Upanisad (Ku), a scripture dating from about the third century Bce. Here, the god of Death reveals what is termed the ‘entire yoga regimen’ to a young ascetic named naciketas. In the course of his teaching, Death compares the relationship between the self, body, intellect, and so forth to the relationship between a rider, his chariot, charioteer, etc. (Ku 3.3–9), a comparison which approximates that made in Plato’s Phaedrus. Three elements of this text set the agenda for much of what constitutes yoga in the centuries that follow. First, it introduces a sort of yogic physiology, calling the body a ‘fort with eleven gates’ and evoking ‘a person the size of a thumb’ who, dwelling within, is worshiped by all the gods (Ku 4.12; 5.1, 3). Second, it identifies the individual person within with the universal Person (purusa) or absolute Being (brahman), asserting that this is what sustains life (Ku 5.5, 8–10). Third, it describes the hierarchy of mind-body constituents—the senses, mind, intellect, etc.—that comprise the foundational categories of Sāṃkhya philosophy, whose metaphysical system grounds the yoga of the YS, Bhg, and other texts and schools (Ku 3.10–11; 6.7–8). Because these categories were hierarchically ordered, the realization of higher states of consciousness was, in this early context, tantamount to an ascension through levels of outer space, and so we also find in this and other early upanishads the concept of yoga as a technique for ‘inner’ and ‘outer’ ascent.” ... These same sources also introduce the use of acoustic spells or formulas (mantras), the most prominent among these being the syllable oṃ, the acoustic form of the supreme brahman. In the following centuries, mantras would become progressively incorporated into yogic theory and practice, in the medieval Hindu, Buddhist, and Jain tantras, as well as the Yoga Upanishads. ... Tantric yogis specialize in esoteric practices, often carried out in cremation grounds, practices that often verge on black magic and sorcery. Once again, this was, overwhelmingly, the primary sense of the term ‘yogi’ in pre-modern Indic traditions: nowhere prior to the seventeenth century do we find it applied to persons seated in fixed postures, regulating their breath or entering into meditative states. ... Here, it should be noted that prior to the end of the first millennium ce, detailed descriptions of āsanas were nowhere to be found in the Indian textual record. In the light of this, any claim that sculpted images of cross-legged figures—including those represented on the famous clay seals from third millennium Bce indus Valley archeological sites—represent yogic postures are speculative at best (White 2009: 48–59).” -- Yoga, Brief History of an idea by David Gordon White

Brahman?

“PRAJĀPATI \prə-ˈjā-pə-tē \ (Sanskrit: “Lord of Creatures”), one of the creator figures of the Vedic period of ancient India; later he came to be identified with BRAHMĀ, who gradually surpassed him in importance.”

Source: Britannica Encyclopedia of World Religions - pg. 864

“BRAHMAN, in the UPANISHADS, the supreme existence or absolute, the font of all things. The etymology of the Sanskrit is uncertain, but many scholars associate it with brahman, sacred utterance in a ritual context. In the Upanishads, Brahman is the eternal, conscious, irreducible, infinite, omnipresent, spiritual source of the universe.”

Let's ask Google.

Hey Google...Who is Jesus, Allah, Brahman, New Age...interesting!

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qb_ceWfPaHk

“Om” is the acoustic form of a Hindu god. In other words, you're calling on a Hindu god ... and doing so while meditating – trying to empty yourself out. FYI: Meditation by itself has been practiced all over the world for centuries as a way to allow a spirit(s) inside the body. Some cultures just call the after-effects different things: godhood, becoming a god, enlightenment, raising your Kundalini, raising your consciousness, and so on. But it's actually all the same. This is why all the well-known occultists, including Satanists, practiced meditation. And it's the same with celebrities, who use it to welcome in a spirit(s) that will help them in some aspect of music or acting. The actors call it channeling. You got a glimpse of all of this with Beyonce whose career was almost ruined because the spirit(s) she was dealing with was too strong for her to handle. And this has been going on for decades in these industries, and is well documented.

The occultism of India, which is actually the same as the occultism in Egypt, is what the elitists practice. Jewish Kabbalists who practiced meditation, specifically those who were students of the Lurianic Kabbalah, are how we got the Rothschilds, Jacob Frank, and Adam Weishaupt who together created the Bavarian Illuminati (a tool to carry out part of their agenda while being the scapegoat for the agenda). Just looking at the title of this 1798 book will give you a sense of what was going on, and what is going on now: Proofs Of A Conspiracy Against All The Religions And Governments Of Europe, Carried On In The Secret Meetings Of Freemasons, Illuminati, And Reading Societies, Collected From Good Authorities – by John Robison. That's 1798. Helena Blavatsky, the mother of the New Age Movement, set up shop in India in the late 1800's. And the Rothschilds ruled the British Empire that ruled India at the time the New Age religion was being cooked up in India.

The Luciferian Philosophy/Religion vs. The Truth

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=mARrtQxUQTY>

“The influence of the Theosophical Society has been significant, despite its small following. The movement has been a catalytic force in the 20th-century Asian revival of Buddhism and HINDUISM and a pioneering agency in the promotion of greater Western acquaintance with Eastern thought.”

Source: Britannica Encyclopedia of World Religions - pg. 1090

“In Isis Unveiled, Blavatsky denied that humans would be reincarnated back on the Earth after physical death. However, by the time that she had authored The Secret Doctrine, she had changed her opinion on this issue, likely influenced by her time in India. Here, she stated that the law of reincarnation was governed by karma, with humanity's final purpose being the emancipation of the soul from the cycle of death and rebirth. She believed that knowledge of karma would ensure that human beings lived according to moral principles, arguing that it provided a far greater basis for moral action than that of the Christian doctrine. ... Blavatsky's Theosophy has been described as representing ‘a major factor in the modern revival’ of Western esotericism. Godwin deemed there to be ‘no more important figure in modern times’ within the Western esoteric tradition than Blavatsky. For Johnson, Blavatsky was ‘a central figure in the nineteenth-century occult revival’. Lachman claimed that ‘practically all modern occultism and esotericism’ can trace its origins back to her influence. ... Blavatsky's Theosophy has been cited as an influence on the New Age Movement, an esoteric current that emerged in Western nations during the 1970s. ‘No single organization or movement has contributed so many components to the New Age Movement as the Theosophical Society. ... It has been the major force in the dissemination of occult literature in the West in the twentieth century.”

FYI: The idea of karma comes from Hinduism, a religion.

They brought up Christ Consciousness in that video. Alice Bailey also taught this. Oprah, the new mother of the New Age Movement who introduced nearly all of the New Age authors/teachers (through whom nearly all of the New Age authors/teachers were introduced), also taught this. She's the one who really put it on the map.

It's not necessary to watch these, just look at the titles:

Alice Bailey and her husband founded Lucifer Publishing Company, which was later named Lucis Publishing Co., and then Lucis Trust.

“The Theosophical Society states that Bailey became involved in 1917. Theosophist Joy Mills states that in 1918 she became a member of the Esoteric Section of the society. Theosophist Bruce F. Campbell notes, ‘She quickly rose to a position of influence in the American Section of the Adyar society, moving to its headquarters at Krotona in Hollywood. She became editor of its magazine, The Messenger, and member of the committee responsible for Krotona.’ In 1919, Foster Bailey (1888–1977), who was to be her second husband, became National Secretary of the Theosophical Society. They married in 1921. ... Parallels between Theosophy and Bailey are many, for instance, one principle of Theosophy, the Law of Attraction was discussed in esoteric writings by Blavatsky, Annie Besant, William Quan Judge, and others; and was also discussed in the writings of Alice Bailey, including a whole chapter in one of her books. The term has been embraced, in a simplified form, by the contemporary New Age movement and was popularized in the 2006 film The Secret.”

“December 2014. The United Nations General Assembly marked June 21 International Yoga Day, an annual celebration to incorporate yoga and meditation more into humanity all over the world. As the Dalai Lama notes: ‘If every 8-year-old in the world is taught meditation, we will eliminate violence from the world within one generation.’”

That Wikipedia article brought up another leading figure in all of this, Annie Besant, who just happened to be one of the elite’s population control agents (she was big in the birth control movement).

“In 1890 Besant met Helena Blavatsky, and over the next few years her interest in theosophy grew, whilst her interest in secular matters waned. She became a member of the Theosophical Society and a prominent lecturer on the subject. As part of her theosophy-related work, she travelled to India. In 1898 she helped establish the Central Hindu School, and in 1922 she helped establish the Hyderabad (Sind) National Collegiate Board in Bombay (today's Mumbai), India. In 1902, she established the first overseas Lodge of the International Order of Co-Freemasonry, Le Droit Humain. Over the next few years, she established lodges in many parts of the British Empire. In 1907 she became president of the Theosophical Society, whose international headquarters were, by then, located in Adyar, Madras, (Chennai).”

Atheism? Consciousness? Karma? Thought power? Yoga? This all sounds so familiar. So, can you see how the people who control mass media, and black agents/informants, have been secretly indoctrinating you? And remember how they hyped you up to mock and attack Christians and the black church? Out with the old; in with the new (the new universal religion).

If you scan through these links containing other topics found in the New Age Movement you'll find the same players: Helena Blavatsky, Theosophical Society, Annie Besant, and Alice Bailey.

FYI: All they did was rename/repackage things that already existed. For instance, astral projection was called spirit travel in many cultures for ages. But one of the most dangerous examples of repackaging was calling spiritual possession a Kundalini awakening, and the physical suffering and decline accompanying it, the Dark Night of the Soul. The whole religion was designed to hide the truth (to trick people into practicing the occult). "A demon? No, that's your spirit guide." "It attacked you?" "That's because you have negativity you need to clear out. Just keep going."
